APOSTLE OF PEACE DIES SUDDENLY

News of Death Spreads Over Paris and Thousands Profoundly Shocked

CHAMBER RECESSES

Greatest Contribution To France Was Peace Negotiations After War

PARIS, Mar. 7.—(UP)—Aristide Briand, veteran apostle of world peace, and one of the most famous surviving statesmen of the World War and post-war periods, died at his home at 1 p. m. today of heart disease.

News of his passing at his residence, 52 Avenue Kleber, spread swiftly through the capital and shocked the city profoundly. Although his health had been at a critical state for months, he fought off the malady with characteristic vigor and frequently assured his friends he would be back at active work soon. His seventieth birthday would have been three weeks from today.

Briand had been recuperating at his country home at Cocherel. He came to Paris last week, apparently slightly improved. It was deemed wise for him to leave Cocherel because of the cold weather and the necessity of keeping closer contact with specialists who had been giving him digitalis treatments for his heart.

His condition was complicated recently by signs of uremia.

Disables Doctors

Since his return to Paris, Briand, stubbornly insisted on re-entering public affairs, disobeying doctors and saw Premier Andre Tardieu and other politicians. He did so despite definite instructions that he must take a complete rest at the risk of his life.

As soon as the news was learned, Tardieu hastened to the Briand home. President Paul Doumer sent a representative.

Briand lost consciousness this morning and did not regain it. At his bedside when he died were Dr. Emile Emery, his physician and his niece, Madame Billeau, with her husband.

Briand made no last remarks. He failed to realize his critical condition or the fact that his heart had been rapidly giving out in the last few days.

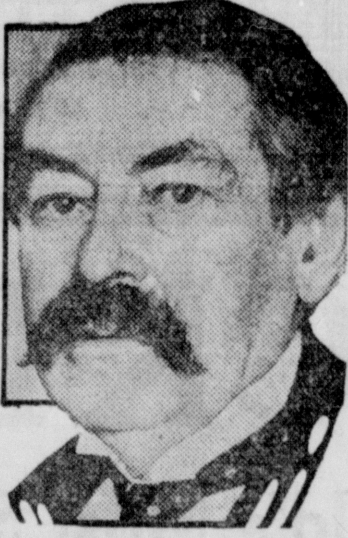

The dead statesman lay this afternoon on the bed in the tiny, simply furnished room in which he died. The first important visitor was President Paul Doumer.

A member of the household said Briand had been jovial when he returned from Cocherel last week

EIGHT PERSONS DIE IN STORMS OVER WEEK END

Atlantic Seaboard Whipped As Midwest Experiences Cold Wave

STORMS THAT LASHED the entire Atlantic seaboard today, caused eight deaths, while temperatures and barometers indicated more severe weather for all eastern states.

Five deaths were caused by drowning when two boats capsized off Atlantic City, the victims were coast guardsmen. Two persons perished at Washington, D. C., where the blizzard was the worst in years. A youth was killed in a falling tree and a negro died of exposure.

Meanwhile the Midwest experienced its coldest weather in two years. The thermometer at Chicago was hovering around zero.

The steamer Dixie Arrow's "SOS" indicated she was in distress off Cape Henry, Va., her steering gear and engines out of order. The coast guard cutter Mendota had gone to her assistance.

NEW TAX BILL INTRODUCED IN HOUSE AT NOON

Measure Will Raise Billion And Will Affect Virtually Every Person

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—(UP)—The new $1,096,000,000 tax bill which will affect virtually everyone in the nation was formally introduced in the house at noon today.

Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee presented the measure, a 298 page document over which the committee had labored for weeks. It was officially titled "Revenue Bill of 1932."

Crisp announced the committee would meet at 2 p. m. for the perfunctory duty of voting a favorable report on the bill. It is expected the house will begin debate Thursday.

The measure provides for $1,096,000,000 in new taxes to be collected during the next year in an effort to balance the budget by July 1, 1932. The increased income taxes would not become effective until March 15, next year. Citizens will pay on March 15 this year at the present rates.

But within 15 or 30 days, respectively, after enactment, which will not be for several weeks, the special excise taxes and the manufacture sales tax would become effective.

These form the bulk of the taxes proposed under the new measure. It also would double estate taxes which affect the wealthy, levy a gift tax to prevent evasion of the estate tax, and make changes in administrative provisions aimed at stock market transactions.

Though the manufacture sales tax is designed to raise $58,000,000, the sections covering this tax principle new to the United States require only 26 pages of the voluminous document.

Only two pages were devoted to the new exemptions, principally foods, in this broad tax which would reach into every industry in the country for a contribution to the federal treasury; a total of 140,000 manufactures of the country would be "licensed" under the act, but only those which produce the final finished product would be subject to the two and a quarter per cent tax.

It is around this tax that the major fight in congress in the next few weeks will race.

Mooney Pardon Decision Within 30 Days

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—(UP)—Governor James Rolph Jr., of California, said here today that he believed a decision on the Tom Mooney pardon case is possible within a month.

The governor said that he expected Matt Sullivan, an attorney and a personal friend of the governor, would submit a report on the Mooney case within 10 days. "Although Sullivan has been ill, I expect him to submit a recommendation and a report within 10 days or two weeks after which I will be able to report a decision within a week or two, following consideration of the attorney's investigation," Governor Rolph said.

Refugees From Kiating Say Town in Flames—Fresh Jap Troops Landed

SHANGHAI, Mar. 7.—(UP)—Hostilities between the Japanese and Chinese in the outskirts of Shanghai continued on a considerable scale today, Chinese official reports said tonight.

Although all fighting was supposed to have been suspended, heavy engagements were reported in the vicinity of Kiating, Huangtu and Taichang, from 15 to 25 miles northwest of Thentay.

Refugees arriving here from Kiating reported the town in flames. Considerable Japanese airplanes and at the same time it was understood the Chinese were massing for a counter attack.

The first Japanese troops of the 14th division were landed today at Woosung and were preparing to march up the river to Liuh, where the Japanese previously had landed 35,000 reinforcements. A continued flow of troops from Japan was expected.

Not Charity But Work, Is Cry Of Men

Delegation Calls at Registrar Office and Thanks Editor for Efforts

THREE HUNDRED JOBLESS men, representing practically every community in Orange County this morning stormed the office of the county welfare department. They were seeking work—not charity.

Practically every man in the crowd had been obtaining the bare necessities of life for themselves and families through the work provided under the recently abandoned county employment program.

With the work abandoned last Wednesday the men have reached the point of destitution and some are on the brink of desperation, because their wives and children already are feeling the pinch of hunger.

Byron Curry, welfare director for the county told these job hunters that his hands are tied. He said that he could not provide them with work but that he could and would provide them with food for their families. He said that if every man who was hungry or whose family was without food would wait he would provide them with orders for food. There were

NO ACTION TAKEN ON KIDNAPING BILL

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(UP)—The senate judiciary committee today postponed action indefinitely on kidnaping legislation for fear it might have some influence in preventing return of the Lindbergh baby.

The committee was almost unanimously in favor of some legislation Chairman Norris announced later. "But we felt it could be of no benefit in the present case and might do a lot of harm," Norris said. "There has been so much stir and publicity about the matter that Col. Lindbergh is having trouble getting his baby back anyway."

"When this matter is over I think we will take up and pass some legislation."

MARCH KING John Philip Sousa, world famous bandmaster, who died Sunday and whose death shocked the nation.

SOUSA'S BODY LIES IN STATE IN WASHINGTON

Funeral Services for World Renowned Band Master Will Be Thursday

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—(UP)—John Philip Sousa's body lay in state today in the city where he was born and where he got his start as a musician.

The world-renowned bandmaster and composer of military marches died early Sunday in Reading, Pa., where he had gone to lead a concert. The body was brought here last night. Burial will be Thursday in the Congressional cemetery.

Sousa, whose compositions are known wherever troops march and wherever phonographs are played, was born in Washington only a block from the marine barracks. At 13 he was apprenticed to the marine band, in which his father had played before him.

In 1880, at the age of 26, he became leader of the band, holding that position 12 years, when he left to form his own company. As leader of Sousa's band he soon forged to the top, and was in constant demand.

PARENTS HOPEFUL THAT GANGLAND LEADERS WILL PARLEY WITH KIDNAPERS

Jersey Authorities Squabble Among Themselves As Lindbergh Deals Directly With Underworld

NO NEWS RECEIVED TODAY

HOPEWELL, N. J., Mar. 7.—(UP)—Hope blossomed in the Lindbergh home today for early return of Baby Charles Augustus, Jr., as New York gangland intermediaries listened for underworld word on the child's hideout.

Officially, the New Jersey state police expressed belief that Baby Charles is still alive. This feeling was shared by the Lindberghs on this, the sixth day since the child was seized from its crib in the Soudland mountain estate. Yet, so far as officially revealed, no positive word had come as a basis for this confidence.

The Jersey authorities—known to be squabbling among themselves and largely ignored by the Lindberghs since the latter turned to gangland for assistance—announced their readiness to "do everything possible to help the kidnapers deliver the child."

It was the biggest promise of all for the captors yet given. Everything today indicated reliance was placed heavily on the chances of success in the Lindberghs' appointment of Salvatore Spitalo and his bodyguard, Irving Blitz, as go-betweens who would bring word of underworld capitulation—if gangland, and not an amateur or demented person did the kidnaping.

News was expected from Spitalo and Blitz, "on-the-level" racketeers enlisted in the hope born of desperation that they could find Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. where the forces of law and order failed.

No interview

Asked by newspapermen to answer a few questions early today, Colonel Lindbergh replied through Captain John J. Lamb of the state police, that he "felt no interview should be given at this time."

At that time, these few facts were made known, either through police channels here, or elsewhere, in connection with the greatest kidnaping hunt in history:

No note saying the Lindbergh baby was "safe" has been received.

Henry (Red) Johnson, questioned by Connecticut and New Jersey officials, apparently had cleared himself of any suspicion in the case, and his friend, Johnsen Junge, already has been released after questioning.

Failure to learn immediately the whereabouts of Spitalo led to reports all night long that he and Colonel Henry Breckenridge, Lindbergh's personal representative, had been in conference during the night at Princeton. This report had little more basis than given

SPITALO WAITS FIRST MOVE AS INTERMEDIARY

Discouraged That He Didn't Hear From Kidnapers First Day

(COPYRIGHT 1932 BY UNITED PRESS)

NEW YORK, Mar. 7.—(UP)—Salvatore Spitalo doesn't like all the publicity he's getting because he has been named as a "go-between" in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping, and is sorry he didn't get any news of the baby the first day, he told the United Press today after watching last night's hockey game.

Spitalo, his henchman, Irving Blitz and Mrs. Blitz occupied a box at Madison Square Garden while most of the world wondered where they were, what they planned to do and what they had learned about the kidnapers.

"My policy of avoiding publicity has been knocked for a row of milk bottles. Now I'm right up in news bigger than the Shanghai war. 'From now on I'll be watched, not only by the newspapers, but by the gangsters. Every radio program tells the world I'm gangland's appointed hoodlum.'"

"And," the manager of one of Spitalo's restaurants chimed in, "where's he going to be when this thing dies down? The same place Al Capone was when he got too famous."

Spitalo sat in a rear room of a

CONDITIONS REMAIN THE SAME; LET US KEEP THE FACTS IN MIND

(An Editorial)

We have never seen a policy taken by a public body that has been supported by more misrepresentation, untruthfulness, insinuations and changing of position than is being shown by the Board of Supervisors, and those who control them, in respect to the attitude which they have assumed on the unemployed and the needy in this county.

We have been unwavering in our position, and shall continue to be, on behalf of the needy, and we shall not be changed from that attitude to that of personal defense in the midst of falsehoods which are being told. We know why these are being said. It is not because those who tell them consider them an argument for the impossible position that the Board of Supervisors has been directed to take, but it is because they haven't any argument, and when they haven't that, they begin to be personal.

Let the public think for a moment. A week ago last Saturday night, after repeated statements by the Board of Supervisors that they had no money that could be used on behalf of the unemployed and the needy, the declaration was made by Mr. Schumacher and concurred in by the other members of the board, that there was only $86,000 in the treasury,—road funds and everything, that was not "contracted for." This was distinguished clearly from "budgeted."

Mr. Schumacher was cross-examined upon this matter, and the difference between his statements and The Register was so perfectly obvious that a committee was appointed by the body to learn whether there was any more money, that had not been contracted for, and that was lying in the treasury, than this $86,000. This committee reported that there was $310,000 that had no contracts for it. It did not say that some of the Board of Supervisors hadn't made some promises, somewhere.

BUT LET IT BE KNOWN THAT NO MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS, NOR NO ONE ON THEIR BEHALF, HAS EVER DESIGNATED A SOLI-TARY SPOT OR PLACE WHERE A SINGLE NICKEL OF THIS $310,000 IS EVEN PROMISED,—SAYING NOTHING ABOUT CONTRACTED FOR.

And yet with this outrageous, flagrant, and manifest untruth, the members of the Board and their supporters, some of whom have undoubtedly advised them on their attitude in the beginning, maintain they haven't the money. We are not writing this with the thought that the Board can be changed; that they will relent and use this money for the needy of this county. No, we haven't any thought that they will change. For some reason or other, the small group that is running the county has made this decision that no more employment shall be given.

But we would like to call attention to a few facts in respect to it. First, that money which has been used so far, and which we suggest should be used, is money to which the cities of this county are rightfully entitled, and from which funds, they have received almost nothing in all the years.

In 1931 there was $385,832 of gasoline tax money paid by the state into the county. This is paid in proportion to the number of automobiles registered in the respective counties. The cities of this county have 77 per cent of the total number of automobiles registered in the county. The cities are the ones that spend the money for gas. Many of the ranchmen use the gas that is not taxed, for their labor is exempt. So 77 per cent of this $385,000 in 1931 is due the cities.

$334,241 is the amount for 1931-32, part of which has not been received. For these two years there has been $720,000 paid in from this gas tax, from which the cities of the county have had absolutely no direct benefit. And now in this crucial hour, when the cities are particularly hit, and a total of slightly more than one-third of the gas tax money received for the last two years has been used, the Board of Supervisors declare "they will not give another dollar." They will not "give!"

Whose money is this but the money of the taxpayers of this county? Who contributed it? The people of the cities,—77 per cent of it, and they are unbenefited by the method with which they use this gas tax money. They have been using this money for alleged road purposes outside the cities, a great deal of which has been used for political purposes in connection with certain roads, to re-elect themselves to office, to the end that they may again appropriate this money as they see fit.

If there were a need in January and February, has that need ceased? Does anyone so claim? President Hoover and his committee advised that in the cases of need, and with people out of employment, where they were in the same condition as many of these people are in this county, that employment should be given, and that direct aid should not be given, so that they should not call it a "dole." This was to preserve their self-respect.

The Board of Supervisors determined upon the employment plan, in place of the "dole." And then suddenly they threw the employment plan over, which was to preserve the self-respect of the citizens who are in need, and said, "Now we are going to give you a dole. We will hand you out crackers and cheese. Your self-respect now means nothing to us. Yes, we know it did last January and February, but we have changed our minds. We have had counsel. We have entered into an agreement. Yes, we know the money is there. But we are through."

We would urge that the public get the facts clearly. It would have been better for the Board of Supervisors never to have entered into such a plan. And we would remind the people that when they did enter into this plan, they tried to destroy the work of the unemployment committee in this city.

Some men who are now with the Board of Supervisors, in this unemployment work at that time wanted the unemployment committee to sub-ordinate itself to the county, if not to become obliterated entirely. And in a meeting with the local supervisor and the welfare director, this was urged upon the committee, and a declaration was made that the county "would abundantly take care of all the needs."

After trying to wreck the unemployment committee; after emphasizing that the county was the one agency that could be depended upon, both in its ability to do, and in the wisdom of its pursuit, the same ones now say: "We have changed our mind,—no more money is to go out." Why?

In the last 10 to 12 years, there has been received by the county the magnificent sum of $2,800,000 from the gas tax. How much has Anaheim received from this amount? How much has Fullerton received? How much has Santa Ana received? Santa Ana, with one-fourth of the population, should have received over $700,000. It hasn't received one-seventh of this amount, and as a matter of fact, where it has been entitled to $750,000, when the small sum of its share of $250,000 has been spent, the "powers that be" get together and say: "Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton have had enough."

WE WOULD REMIND THE TAXPAYER THAT THE ATTITUDE WHICH IS BEING TAKEN BY THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS IS TO ADD THE BURDENS OF THE UNEMPLOYED AND THE NEEDY TO THOSE OF THE TAXPAYERS OF THE CITY, INSTEAD OF USING THE MONEY WHICH THE WHOLE COUNTY IS ENTITLED TO, WHICH WOULD RELIEVE THE TAXPAYER BOTH OF THE CITY AND OF THE COUNTY.

But the burden is today upon those to whom the needs of the people appeal. We are glad that some of our officials, if not all of them in the city, take an entirely different position than that assumed by our officials in the county. But we venture that if the elements are running true to form, the moment the city begins operations to assume this responsibility, there will be difficulties thrown in the way by the same folks, as there were when the city started the bowl enterprise for the unemployed. Humanity and justice demand the attention and aid of the citizens.

restaurant in which he is the reputed heavy stockholder, as he answered the questions submitted by the United Press.

"Yeah, I'm a little discouraged that I didn't hear anything about the baby today, but I feel sure he is in the hands of a clever band and will be returned safe," he said.

"No, I'm not doing anything about it. Why should I? There is nothing I can do."

"I have offered to be the middleman until somebody shows up with the baby. I hope to continue my regular business until then."

"I didn't agree to this idea of capitalizing on Lindbergh's misfortune. This publicity is the worst thing that could happen to me. I have nothing to gain. However, there are favors no man could refuse."

"I was asked to use my influence to find the Lindbergh baby and that is what I intend to do."

"As far as searching the town is concerned, that's out. Reports that I have sent men around to various dives are ridiculous. I'm no cop."

"If the kidnapers are professional, or even amateurs with big ideas, they'll find me sooner than I could find them. If they are cranks, I don't mean a thing to them, and they don't mean anything to me."

At the garden last night a newspaperman recognized Spitale, and sent over a card with a note to the effect that he had some information on the baby. He was admitted to the box.

"If you have the baby, I'll talk to you," Spitale told him. "I don't take your money tips to the police. The kidnapers know me or know where to find me. I'm not playing detective. I'm a business man and have my business to attend to."

"Anybody in the know can reach me at any hour in five minutes. Anybody not in the know wouldn't have a very tough time finding out how to reach me," he added.

And that was that.

Later he was asked if he credited reports the baby had been stolen by kidnapers who carried him

SANTA MONICA, March 7.—(To the Editor of The Register: Don't tell me we got people that can read, and they haven't read Pearl Buck's great book on China, "Good Earth." It's not only the greatest book about a people ever written, but the best book of our generation. Even in China the Europeans and the Chinese says it's absolutely true, and there are few books written about people where they say it's good themselves. I had an engagement to fly up and meet her. But it stormed that day and I missed the treat. So go get this and read it. It will keep you out of some devilment and learn you all about China, and you will thank me.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 7.—(UP)—Justice Charles Garrow today found Samuel Bloom, N. L. Nathanson and 15 Canadian film exchanges not guilty of conspiring to illegally restrain trade.

The trial, which opened Jan. 26, resulted from a report of Peter White, K. C., who investigated theater conditions in the province, that there was sufficient evidence for prosecution.

and boasted he felt "better than ever."

Pierre Laval, minister of labor and former premier, was an early arrival.

"We ourselves are unable to realize how great a loss this is," he said.

Worked to End

A visit to the tiny, three room flat showed Briand had worked hard until his final attack. His desk was littered with scribbled papers and newspapers.

Outside the bedroom, stood a bronze statue of victory, with arms outstretched to the sky, dedicated to the allied victory in the World War.

Joseph Paul-Boncour announced Briand's death in the chamber of deputies. The members stood in silent tribute, even the communists joining.

The chamber recessed until 9:30 p. m. as a sign of mourning, delaying debate on reorganization of the ministers of air, navy and army into a single ministry of national defense.

Tardieu and members of the government prepared to propose a national funeral, with public honor on the same scale accorded to Marshals Foch and Joffre.

Briand's final collapse was sudden. His heart became feeble after a visit from his barber at 9:30 a. m. At 10:15, Dr. Emery administered injections of camphorated oil and at 11 a. m. Briand entered a coma, dying at 1:21 p. m., according to an official foreign office statement.

JAPANESE AND
CHINESE AGAIN
AT EACH OTHER

Events of the past few days in the battle-region have been inconclusive. Although there has been a considerable diminution of the fighting, it was feared large-scale hostilities might be renewed at any time.

The main fighting ended Thursday, when the Chinese 19th route army was ordered to withdraw 12 or more miles from the city. The Japanese followed them up and established new lines, with occasional scattered fighting.

Both the Chinese and Japanese announced hostilities had been ordered suspended, pending the outcome of the work of the League assembly at Geneva. Friday and Saturday, however, occasional fighting was reported from various points outside the city, and the Chinese charged that the Japanese intended to invest Soochow, Hangchow, Nanking and other cities.

The international settlement was considered much safer with the withdrawal of the Chinese, and order was restored after scattered rioting Friday night. A vigorous American protest was expected to be made over an attack on Miss Miss Rose Marlowe, an American missionary, and other incidents involving Americans.

UNDERWORLD LEADERS WILL

for hundreds of previous reports in the case. It was denied at Princeton.

Lindbergh's refusal of an interview was believed to be based on his belief, already apparent, that principal hope for return of his baby was confined to direct dealing with the kidnapers; that the less said by him to police and public, the better, excepting publication of such statements as might be required by the kidnapers.

No Consultation

The flier's action in calling for underworld help was taken without consultation with police and state authorities in charge of activities here. It was believed based on advice of his attorney, Colonel Breckenridge, and Detective John J. Fogarty, serving under Breckenridge's direction.

Fogarty was bodyguard for the flier during his triumphant tour of America that followed the solo flight to Paris.

Lindbergh's action this morning also followed within a few minutes an interview given by Captain Lamb at the Lindbergh home.

Among the interesting questions Lamb answered were these, and reply was:

"Not to my knowledge."

Has Spitale or Bittz ever been at the Lindbergh home?

Have they communicated with the Lindbergh home or with Lindbergh or with anyone connected with the case?

Are there any indications that the introduction of Spitale and Bittz will insure the safe return of the baby?

Has any communication been received at the Lindbergh home saying that the baby is "safe and well?"

Have you determined or can you learn who suggested the names of Spitale and Bittz to Lindbergh or how these two underworld characters were suggested? A—I don't know that they have been suggested.

Have the kidnapers designated any representative to get in touch with Spitale and Bittz or to act as intermediaries?

naval training station band, which was used for patriotic demonstrations throughout the country. It was then that he shaved his beard, one of his distinguishing characteristics.

Only two weeks ago Sousa led the marine band at the George Washington bicentennial celebration at the capitol. His friends at that time said he was in failing health and subject to heart attacks.

Sousa was born in Washington, November 6, 1854, the son of a Portuguese father and a Bavarian mother. His father's family had been driven from Portugal in the Revolution of 1822 and his father was born in Spain.

Sousa loved all the bands, good and bad alike, that marched the streets of Washington in Civil war days. His father was a trombonist in the United States marine band. The boy's first musical training came from a retired orchestra player, a Spaniard named Espoto, whose son later became Sousa's teacher. The boy early attracted some attention as a violinist and organized a dance orchestra. To prevent his joining a circus band, his father arranged for his enlistment as an apprentice musician in the Marine corps at 13. He also joined the Orchestra Union of Washington, of which George Felix Benkert, one of the greatest pianists of the day, was conductor.

Young Sousa obtained a few pupils, led the orchestra in a summer garden and continued his study of harmony, violin and piano with Espoto and Benkert. At 19 he was first violin at Ford's opera house and had published a few compositions.

When the United States entered the World war the officers in charge of the Great Lakes naval training station had trouble getting recruits for the navy bands. Sousa was asked to organize this branch of the nation's activity and served from May, 1917, until March, 1919, with the rank of lieutenant.

Sousa was retired from the navy with the rank of lieutenant commander and, calling his band together, resumed his tours in 1920. Before the war these tours usually had occupied most of the year. After the war Sousa cut them down to the six months from July to December, after which he made it a practice to go south for the shooting, then to Pinehurst for golf and then to his home at Sands Point, Port Washington, for writing and rest. His 20th and last transcontinental tour was made in 1928, when he celebrated the 50th anniversary of his conductorship with his Golden Jubilee March.

The bandmaster had been reluctant in the earlier days of radio to appear over the air, explaining that he feared losing the warm personal touch with his audiences possible in personal appearances. But in 1929 he made the first series of broadcasts with his band.

very few who did not wait for the promised order.

A delegation of men from this army of the unemployed, with representatives from Barber City, Fullerton, Santa Ana, Anaheim, Placentia, Huntington Beach, Gardena, Buena Park and others, gave a demonstration of their appreciation for the fight that the newspaper has carried on to provide them with work.

J. F. Burke was called to the outside and greeted with a cheer. J. W. Daley, leader of the delegation, told Burke that he and his companions had called to extend a vote of thanks to The Register for the interest shown in the unemployed and the effort made to uncover the situation that prompted the supervisors to abandon the relief program and leave some 5500 men without employment of any kind.

Daley said "we are representing the unemployed of Orange county, many of whom, and some of them are in this delegation, have hungry wives and children at home."

"We do not want charity, we want work and are not specifying the amount of pay to be received for this work. All that we are asking is that we be given an opportunity to do something, no matter what, that we can earn enough money to buy food for our families."

Burke assured the delegation he stands with the unemployed men of the county in their effort to secure work. He said his only motive in the campaign to obtain a renewal of county relief work is that every man, woman and child in the county have food to eat and that every man be given the opportunity to earn this food.

its worst blizzard since 1908.

Upper Pennsylvania was covered by a 9-inch snow mantle.

Fear of freezing weather in Florida, endangering the citrus crop and truck farms, led growers to light "smudge pots" in their orchards.

Property damage was extensive in the entire affected area. Communications were temporarily disrupted at several points.

The storm, originating in western Texas, swept across the Gulf of Mexico, where it struck early yesterday. Trees were uprooted. Telegraph and telephone lines were disabled over a wide area south of Daytona Beach and Tampa.

Hundreds of fishing and pleasure craft in the harbor at Clearwater were battered against the docks and damaged. Some sank. Fifty persons marooned on the north end of Clearwater Island were rescued by police.

The coast guardsmen drowned at Atlantic City were William R. Barton, 21, Atlantic City; Harold Livingston, 24, Woodbine, N. J.; Marvin E. Rhodes, 23, Atlantic City; William Graham, 26, Newport, N. C.; and David Barnett, 24, Bay Head, N. J.

They were members of the crews of two surf boats which put out to aid the sloop Anna. Captain James Turner, Jr., in command of one boat, was the only one saved. He was washed ashore, unconscious. The sloop still was unreported.

CHANGES IN WHEELSIGHT 5 DAY JAIL TERM

C. Parnell Turner, wealthy Los Angeles man, arrested on January 5, on a charge of speeding 65 miles per hour on Santa Ana boulevard, and who on a plea of guilty was sentenced to serve five days in the county jail last week, has decided to ask the court to vacate the judgment.

Turner is due in Justice Morrison's court this afternoon to make a motion that the judgment be vacated, so he can enter a plea of not guilty and fight the case against him.

Following the plea of guilty he was sentenced to serve five days in the county jail, which sentence was supposed to have started last Friday. At that time he told the court of his intention to change the plea and the time for further proceedings was set for this afternoon.

Joseph Morrison, of San Clemente, who also is due in the county jail to serve five days for speeding, will report at the jail Friday to start sentence, it was reported. He was given another week to report, when it was explained that he was on the unemployment committee at San Clemente and was needed there until this week.

HEART ATTACK CAUSES DEATH OF J. B. IRWIN

Jesse B. Irwin, 81, for more than 10 years custodian at Orange county park and for 20 years a resident of Orange county, died suddenly at his home, 2333 North Main street, early today.

Death was due to a heart attack, suffered a short time before. Mr. Irwin had been feeling badly for the past several days with a severe cold, but it was not considered serious. He suffered a slight heart attack a week ago, but rallied and said he felt well within a day or so.

A native of Ohio, he came to California from Illinois in 1911, first coming to Huntington Beach where he went into the real estate business, working with his brother-in-law, Tom Talbert. Later he was appointed custodian of the county park and lived there for more than 10 years. About a year ago, he retired, turning the custody of the park over to his son, Fay F. Irwin, and since that time has been living in Santa Ana.

Mr. Irwin is survived by his widow, five daughters and three sons. They are Mrs. Eva Talbert Irwin, of 2333 North Main street; Mrs. Will Thompson, of Tustin; Mrs. L. E. Tarbox, of Redlands; Mrs. R. M. Peters, of Pico; Mrs. J. H. Carter, of Orange, and Mrs. James D. Fuller, of Orange. The sons are Clyde C. and Joe B. Irwin, of Santa Ana, and Fay F. Irwin, of the Orange county park. Three grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services will be held from the Smith and Tutill chapel at 10 a. m. Wednesday with interment at Fairhaven cemetery.

HOLD FUNERAL FOR CORSON TUESDAY

Funeral services for Walter S. Corson, 80, who passed away in a hospital after an illness of three weeks duration, will be held from the Harrell and Brown Funeral home at 116 West Seventeenth street tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. Interment will be made in Central Memorial Park.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Minnie Corson; one daughter, Mrs. L. F. Davis of Santa Ana; four sons, Kenneth M. Corson of Costa Mesa; Ralph M. Corson, of San Diego; Rex L. and Neal D. Corson of Corona Del Mar.

COUNTY SCHOOL HEADS DISCUSS SALARY CUTS

Economic measures to be taken in making out school budgets the first of July were discussed at a meeting of school trustees and principals of elementary schools and high schools and Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, at the intermediate school of Orange Saturday, when about 200 were present and when steps were taken to form a permanent organization of county school trustees.

George Wells, president of Santa Ana school board, presided and was asked to appoint a committee to outline plans for the project, and was appointed permanent chairman.

While no decisive steps were taken in regard to the exact economy measures to be taken, the discussion centered around the advisability of the reduction of the salaries of teachers of the schools and it was pointed out that each district had the prerogative of making reduction in lines deemed to be the most logical ones for them in order to meet the reduced funds which will be available when the budgets are made out. The cut will be apportioned to the various districts it was pointed out.

Budgets must be reduced in order to meet the cut which will be made in school funds following the $5,000,000 tax cut in Orange county and a report on school taxes was made by County Assessor James R. Sleeper, who gave figures showing the increased county valuations and the increase in school attendance and taxes from 1922 to the close of 1931.

Figures given revealed that in 1922 county valuations were $126,448,295; inside county rates $1.50; county school rates $1.59; and the school attendance 16,086. In 1923 the county valuations were $144,298,445; inside rate $1.50 and county school rate $1.51; in 1924 county valuations were $154,244,890; inside rate $1.35 and county school rate $1.61; in 1925 county valuations were $146,732,680; inside rate $1.35 and the county school rate $1.61; in 1926 county valuations were $152,611,450; inside rate $1.35, and county school rate $1.61; in 1927 the county valuations were $158,293,000; inside rate $1.55 and the county school rate $1.59; in 1928 the county valuations were $175,819,685; inside rate $1.45 and the county school rate $1.59; in 1929 the county valuations were $179,460,750; inside rate $1.45 and the county school rate $1.43; in 1930 the county valuations were $185,115,165; inside rate $1.45 and the county school rate $1.43; in 1931 when the school attendance had increased to 23,182, county valuations were $165,083,250; inside rate $1.45 and the county school rate $1.43.

In the Anaheim school in 1923, the special school rates were $1.80, and in 1932 the rate is $1.85; in Fullerton in 1922, $1.45 and in 1932, $1.57; in Orange in 1922, $1.40 and in 1932, $1.88; in Santa Ana, in 1922, $1.65 and in 1932, $2.43; in Garden Grove in 1922 $1.38 and in 1932 $2.13, Sleeper stated.

Sleeper answered questions regarding school taxes and in the course of an informal talk stated that the state would have to increase the tax rate for public utilities or an ad valorem tax would have to be levied on the people. He pointed out how tax valuations vary and said that the moving of equipment by the Standard Oil company to headquarters near Fullerton had added Orange county. Soldiers' exemptions in the county were 3538 and the valuation of exemptions is $1,977,020 which will increase as time goes, Sleeper said. The assessor warned school trustees against the levying of special school taxes.

John G. Mitchell, chairman of the board of supervisors made a brief talk in which he declared that the responsibilities of the men on school boards was much the same as those of members of the board he represented.

"I am proud of the schools of Orange county," Mitchell said, "and I don't believe that we ought to enforce economy which would be detrimental to the efficiency of the schools." He pointed out that the board of supervisors has little to do with the arrangement of school moneys. One class of people call for reduced taxes and another class wants money, Mitchell said.

During the talks which followed the principal addresses school trustees and principals expressed themselves regarding the cut in teachers' salaries.

James Tuffree, of Fullerton, school trustee, stated that he believed that salaries should be adjusted to buying power and that he believed in a salary adjustment rather than in reduction. It was brought to the attention of those present that teachers who had attained a maximum salary through tenure of positions would be less affected by a horizontal cut than those working on a minimum wage.

"Consolidation of classes and reduction of staffs rather than the reduction of salaries came up for discussion. W. Maxwell Burke of the Santa Ana board of education, called attention to the fact that while the buying power of the dollar had increased and that the teachers' salaries had increased proportionately, that during the years when the buying power of the dollar was less, teachers were not given increases in pay.

L. A. Police Arrest Woman In S. A.

Wanted in Los Angeles on a felony charge, Fay Peck, housewife, was arrested at 1110 West Pine street early last night and returned to Los Angeles.

The arrest was made by V. J. Flemming, of the Los Angeles sheriff's office, together with Santa Ana officers. A search for two men, said to be wanted in connection with the same case, failed.

SECOND HAND DEALER GIVEN FINE OF $100

F. G. McGrath, operator of a second hand store on East Fourth street was fined $100 in the city police court today on a charge of failure to make a report to police on the purchase of merchandise from individuals, as required by a city ordinance.

The actual charge was violation of ordinance No. 606.

According to F. W. Howard, chief of police, McGrath purchased a bride which was stolen from Clarence McFadden, of San Juan Capistrano several months ago. Although he did not know the bride was stolen, the ordinance calls for a report to be made to the police. This was not done.

Some time later McGrath sold the bride to a friend of McFadden's and when he used it, McFadden saw it, and questioned him about it, which led to the arrest of McGrath for failure to report the purchase.

Howard declares there is considerable discussion among second hand merchants in Santa Ana regarding the making of reports of this nature, many refusing to do it. The ordinance will be enforced, the chief reported.

LEGALITY OF FUND TRANSFER IS INJECTED

With no action taken or attention paid, apparently, to the suggestion of City Attorney Clyde Downing, at a recent meeting of the Citizens' Unemployment Emergency Committee, that the courts be allowed to decide whether or not the county could use funds on hand to provide employment relief during the present crisis, the legal aspects of the issue have served only to confuse the issue.

The supervisors, through C. H. Chapman, declared that the letter of the law already had been exceeded in ever providing work for the unemployed. Downing suggested that if it is a question of deciding the legal right of the supervisors to use funds to provide work that would prevent the county's unemployed from asking charity, that the matter be tested in court.

His suggestion was to the effect that the board continue its relief program and if the auditor refuses to sign warrants to pay the men because of the law which might make him responsible under his bond the case could be taken into court on a writ of mandamus and decided in a friendly suit. Downing said that if the court decided employment of the unemployed, to be paid from funds transferred to the welfare work from other budget funds is illegal, the matter would be finally and judicially determined.

In his argument Downing quoted Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton who had given an opinion that the funds could be transferred and had been in the past.

Opposition to the plan of continuing employment relief by the county, led by Chapman, T. E. Stephenson, and A. J. Cruikshank, took no notice of this suggestion and reiterated that the county is out of the employment business definitely and permanently.

Old Licenses Now Cause For Arrest

Santa Ana's city police today started a drive against the operators of automobiles which still carry the 1931 license plates.

The state police announced Saturday they would stop all cars with 1931 plates.

Chief of Police F. W. Howard said today that he had instructed his men to question the drivers and if they could not show that 1932 plates had been ordered for the machines, to arrest them, under a section of the California motor vehicle act.

He stressed the fact that in spite of the fact there are funds which apparently have not been contracted for they were provided for certain purposes in the budget upon which the tax rate was set and upon which this year's tax money was collected and, under the law, cannot be legally transferred to any other fund.

Local Briefs

Members of the Santa Ana Woman's club were requested today to make an effort to attend one of the two funeral services being conducted Tuesday for late affiliates of that organization: Mrs. G. R. Lamme, rites for whom will take place at the Harrell and Brown funeral home; and Mrs. I. D. Annis, whose funeral will be held in the Winthorpe parlors. Woman's club members were asked to meet outside the funeral parlors at 1:55 p. m. in order that representatives might attend in a body.

ASSESSOR SEES DEPRECIATION OF $5,000,000

Predicting an estimated $5,000,000 depreciation on assessed valuations in the county over last year County Assessor James Sleeper this morning started his corps of deputies to work. Non-operative property upon which taxes are levied to obtain funds for operating the county government, last year had an assessed valuation of $165,000,000.

Sleeper said that there would be no further reduction in assessed valuation over the 10 per cent slash made last year, but that the depreciation in values would come through depleted stocks of merchandise and business failures during the past year.

In starting his deputies out Sleeper is asking that taxpayers give them every co-operation through having all information ready for the deputies on their first visit.

Deputies taking the field this morning were:

Santa Ana: C. R. Couden, T. D. Knights, Frank Corey, Cliff Thatcher, and H. D. Traveller; Orange, Ross S. Stuke; Orange School District, George Franzen; El Modena: John R. Fletcher; Fullerton, Lloyd Fuller and Merrill Gregory; Anaheim, J. J. Omelia, and John Elvey; La Habra-Brea, Claude Ridgway; Huntington Beach, Ralph Chaffee; Garden Grove, Wayne Holt; Costa Mesa, R. R. Rossett; Tustin, Hugh Plumb; Buena Park, Harry Salsbery; Newport Beach, Fred Chapman; Laguna Beach, George Thompson; San Clemente, Thomas Murphree Jr.; San Juan Capistrano; John Landell; Olinda, Charles Robb; and Placentia, Hugh Peeler.

GEORGE W. CARSON DIES AT TUSTIN

George W. Carson, 73, a resident of Tustin and vicinity for the past 18 years, passed away today at his home at 165 D street, Tustin. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Frances E. Carson; nine children, Charles D. Carson, Leslie L. Carson, Harold D. Carson, Elton D. Carson, Mrs. Ora Vance, all of Tustin; Mrs. Ruby Raine of Burbank, Albert E. Carson of Santa Ana, Mrs. Frances Machado of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Merle Huntley of Pasadena; and one sister, Mrs. Anna Thompson of Robinson, Kansas.

Funeral services will be announced later from the Harrell and Brown Funeral home at 116 West Seventeenth street.

EXECUTIVE OF WORLD SUNDAY SCHOOL COMING

Religious education workers in the various churches of this city will be interested in the announcement made today by the Rev. O. W. Reinius, president of the Ministerial association, that a remarkable group of leaders in Christian education will visit Santa Ana on March 17. Through the courtesy of the Southern California Council of Religious Education, Dr. Robert M. Hopkins of New York, general secretary of the World's Sunday School association, Dr. W. C. Pearce, consulting general secretary of the Southern California Council, and Dr. Jesse Lee Corley, of Los Angeles, will be the speakers at a meeting to be held at Ketter's cafe on Thursday, March 17, at 8:30 p. m.

This group of well known speakers and leaders will present a number of matters of vital interest to those active in religious education. Dr. Corley has recently returned from China, where he spent a year as chairman of a delegation which studied conditions throughout the nation as they pertain to religious education. He organized a plan which is now in operation, and which is unifying Christian education throughout China. He will tell of his work.

Dr. Hopkins, who, as general secretary of the World's Sunday School association, sent Dr. Corley to China, will speak on what has been accomplished there, and will also bring details of the World's Sunday School Convention, which will be held at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, in July. Dr. Pearce, who is well known throughout Southern California, will speak on the program and accomplishments of the Southern California Council of Religious Education.

All who are interested in hearing about the progress of religious education far and near may attend this meeting. Reservations should be made at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A.

WORLD LEADER

Dr. Robert M. Hopkins, of New York, general secretary of the World's Sunday School association, is one of a group of religious education leaders who will be in Santa Ana for a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on March 17.

ATTEMPTED HOLDUP THWARTED BY DRIVER

Fast thinking on the part of R. L. Loya, of Garden Grove, kept him and Mrs. Lucy Elliott, of 202 East Acacia street, Garden Grove from being held up by four bandits on West Fifth street, near the Santa Ana river bridge Saturday night according to a report on file today at the sheriff's office.

Mrs. Elliott, who made the report, stated that she and Loya were returning to their homes in Garden Grove after being in Santa Ana, riding in her sedan. When the car neared the bridge on Fifth street, they saw four men scattered about the road. One of the men signalled to the car and as it slowed down to avoid striking him two others jumped on the running board.

Loya quickly stepped on the gas and the car speeded up, tossing the men off the running board before they could get a hold.

OLIVE

OLIVE, March 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Guenther and son, Delmar, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Guenther were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hammond Sunday evening.

Mrs. Raymond Meierhoff and infant son, Daryl Eugene, have returned to their home from St. Joseph's hospital in Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Guenther and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hammond and children spent Sunday afternoon at Pomona.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Luchau and Mrs. O. Burg were recent Los Angeles visitors.

PEACE. MOVIES MAN IDENTIFIES DISCUSSED BY CRASH VICTIM YOUNG PEOPLE BY BROADCAST

Evening worship at the First Presbyterian church, yesterday, was in charge of the high school department with Jeanne Lelie, presiding. Three brief talks were given on affairs of the present day.

Walker Kring spoke on "Youth's Attitude Toward World Peace." George Munro on "Are Moving Pictures on Trial?" and John McFarland spoke on "The Seven Lamps."

In his talk on "Youth's Attitude Toward World Peace," Kring said in part:

"The fight for peace is not a new fight. With the invention of gunpowder men thought war would come to an end. With every present day invention we predict that war will come to an end because it would be too horrible.

"But today's modern thought has proved the absurdity of war. The absurd action of Christian nations during war time has been seen. Two Christian nations at war both pray to the same God that they may have victory. It seems strange that the Christian churches should have not seen this incongruity. The missionaries in foreign lands find it hard to explain how when Christ preached peace how Christian nations should engage in fiendish war.

"Many remedies for this problem of World Peace have been given; being chiefly arbitration, the League of Nations, the World Court, and disarmament. But nations lack trust of each other. This is one fundamental element which must be present if world peace is to succeed. The only way that we can have universal world peace is by living, the life which Christ set forth. Christ said and says today, 'Love your neighbor as yourself.'

"Telling of the crusade for clean motion pictures George Munro said in part:

"One of the most serious problems which confront us today is the question of the motion picture. The present state of affairs demands that something be done about the motion pictures. The percentage of immoral pictures is higher today than it has been in the last 15 years. There is also a greater number of young people going to the movie now than there has been in the past decade.

"It is said that 75 per cent of the motion picture fans are 23 years of age or under. When we realize that 10,000,000 school children are in attendance in motion pictures houses throughout the country, every day, viewing pictures, a great percentage of which ridicule the sanctity of marriage and home life, which exalts the gangster and the crook, and which bases its plots upon sex, we can see the tremendous effect which the movies have.

"About a year ago the junior class of the high school department in this church under the leadership of Mr. C. G. Dowds, resolved to do whatever was in their power for the improvement of motion pictures. With this idea in mind we have spoken in various cities and churches throughout Orange county and have also enlarged the movement so that now it includes the whole county. We have also enlisted the aid of many of the leading business and professional men of this city.

"In our opinion, Federal control should be installed in this country for the motion picture. This would enable the government to keep a check upon the films which are sent abroad. These constitute a problem which well might be considered. We are sending pictures to foreign countries every day which give not only the morals of the people who see them but the United States, figuratively speaking, a black eye. The people firmly believe that these movies are typical of life in America. Is it any wonder, then, that a goodly number of foreign countries have complained concerning the type of pictures we send them? Federal control would remedy this sort of thing."

McFarland in his talk described the Seven Lamps as lamps of truth, memory, sacrifice, obedience, power and life.

Radio today was given credit for the identification of the body of John Morris, pedestrian, who was killed February 28 when he was run down by a car driven by Bud Yorba, of Placentia, on South Main street, inside the city limits of Santa Ana.

The inquest over the body was held at 10 a. m. today at the Harrell and Brown funeral parlors on West Seventeenth street, and the body was identified by Victor A. Selby, of 184 Rosemead street, Pasadena, who happened to be listening to a police broadcast of the accident.

He reported he had just turned the dial to KMTR, when he heard of the accident and knew by the description of the man that he was Morris. Morris formerly worked for him, he reported. Selby is a cable splicer contractor and Morris was employed by him for some time, he said.

The inquest revealed that the driver of the car did not see the man walked in the road in time to prevent striking him. A verdict of death by accident was returned.

Beach Chamber To Buy 4 Signs

SUNSET BEACH, March 7.—The chamber of commerce met Friday night at the Rustic inn for a dinner and business session. C. L. Pettenger of Long Beach gave an address on unemployment and the plan being carried out in Long Beach.

The matter of removing the old pilings from a former pier was discussed and was referred to the street improvement committee of the chamber. President G. W. Bush was delegated to investigate the matter of keeping the beaches clean during the summer season. C. M. Earl, chairman of the advertising committee, was authorized to purchase four signs, two to be placed on the Coast highway entrances to the city, and two to be suspended in the center of the city. The signs are to cost $50 each.

URGE SPEED IN WATER BONDS COURT ACTION

Urging that the state supreme court use all possible speed in considering litigation over validation of the $220,000,000 Colorado river aqueduct bond issue, a telegram signed by Roy S. Stockton, chairman of the American Legion National Unemployment Relief Organization for the Southern California District, has been dispatched to William H. Waste, chief justice of the high tribunal.

In discussing this action, Stockton said:

"Construction of the Colorado river aqueduct will do more to relieve unemployment in the cities of the Metropolitan Water District than any other single project. It will provide jobs for 10,000 men for six years, and indirectly will give employment to thousands of other men and women."

The $220,000,000 aqueduct bond issue was passed by a 5-to-1 majority by the voters of the 13 Southern California cities in the Metropolitan Water District on September 29, 1931, and since that time has been tied up by litigation.

TAKE WOMAN, TWO MEN INTO CUSTODY

Three persons, a woman and two men were arrested by Fullerton officers last night and brought to the county jail, where they are booked.

J. Carriker, 42, mechanic of Orange, was charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Carl Hell, 25, of San Francisco, was booked on a drunk charge and Verta Lynch, 42, of 343 South Baker street, Whittier, was charged with possession of liquor.

The woman is asserted to have had a pint of whiskey on her person at the time of the arrest.

S. A. STUDENTS IN U. S. C. PRODUCTION

Two Santa Ana students, Mary Clanton and Emil Foust, will take part in the 1932 production of the University of Southern California chapter of National Collegiate Players which is to be given on the Trojan campus next Friday evening.

According to an announcement by Wallace Fraser, director of U. S. C. play productions, Miss Clanton will play the role of Gwen Dean and Foust will play Herbert Dean, in the play, which is "The Royal Family". Both students have previously appeared in numerous dramatic offerings at the university and their membership in National Collegiate Players attests to their histrionic ability, as election to the organization is regarded as the highest possible honor in collegiate dramatics.

FORMER SANTA ANA WOMAN IS CALLED

Word of the death of Mrs. Alma Nelson Ennis, 31, who was born and lived in Santa Ana until about five years ago, was received here today by Mrs. S. D. Duckett, 1102 West Sixth street, a cousin. Mrs. Ennis, who died Saturday while on a visit in Nevada, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. McReynolds, former residents of Santa Ana, who now live in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Ennis will be buried in Fairhaven cemetery at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow, with services at the grave. Surviving brothers and sisters are: James McReynolds, Redondo; Donald and Burton McReynolds, Los Angeles; Mrs. Pearl Flynn, Fullerton; Mrs. Edna Anderson, Mrs. Edith Porter, Mrs. Lois Heath, all of Los Angeles; and Mrs. Pauline Tendick, of Oregon.

Reunions and Picnics

MISSOURI

All who ever lived in Missouri are invited to the big Missouri picnic reunion at Bixby Park, Long Beach, all day Sunday, March 13. President James A. Lang will preside and will be in charge of the events of the day. An oration "A Message from old Missouri" will be delivered by a former Kansas City pastor, the Rev. W. R. Reid, of the First Cumberland Presbyterian church. The program, commencing at 10 a. m. and continuing through till 5 p. m. will be featured by "The Show-Me Strolling Players" directed by Miss Mildred Ann Cline.

OUR PRESIDENTS AT A GLANCE

MILLARD FILLMORE

SON OF A POOR FARMER. Born, Jan. 7, 1800, in Cayuga County, N. Y. Grew up in a log cabin on the frontier where he attended country school until 14.

BOYHOOD AMBITION was to be a sailor. Throughout his life his favorite pastime was reading. Enjoyed fishing, hunting and traveling.

AT 29, was a member of New York Assembly; for eight years, a member of Congress where by his integrity and practical ability, won a place among the first statesmen of his day. At 44, defeated for Governor of New York. At 47, elected State Controller and on the strength of his having carried New York for this post the Whigs nominated him the next year for Vice-President on the ticket with Taylor and fate made him President.

THE SECOND VICE PRESIDENT to be promoted by death, he became the thirteenth president of the United States, July 9, 1850—served two years and eight months. During his administration, slavery was the main issue. He signed the Fugitive Slave Act and the enforcement of it further complicated matters—the "underground railroad" sprang into existence, which better facilitated the escape of slaves from the South to Canada. Commodore Matthew Perry was sent in 1850 to open up relations with Japan, which had refused to admit any traders, and various valuable exploring expeditions were sponsored.

HIS EFFORTS brought about cheap postage, but with a political minority in both houses of congress many other wise and admirable measures recommended by him failed of adoption. Four years after his unsuccessful effort to be nominated for president, he was nominated for president by both the Know-Nothing and Whig parties, but was defeated in the election—1856. Retired to his home in Buffalo, where he died 18 years later, March 8, 1874, aged 74.

FUGITIVE SLAVES CAPTURED IN FREE TERRITORY

CROSS, WISDOM OF WORLD IS THEME

Preaching Christ is one thing, but preaching Christ crucified is quite another thing, according to the Rev. F. E. Lindgren, pastor of Calvary church, in his morning sermon delivered yesterday in Ebell clubhouse. The wisdom of this world, according to the pastor, has to accept the Christ of history. He was born, He lived, He taught, He worked, He died and He was buried—all this meets with no opposing voice from the wise of this world. They do not care if you preach that Christ died if you leave off the rest of the statement—"for our sins." You may herald forth that Christ was delivered, but do not delete the rest—"for our offenses."

The church is in a serious way when it can be influenced by young intellectual upstarts who are urging the deletion of all references to the blood from our songs and our preaching. That followed and the doom of the church is at hand. But such is the result of the teaching of the day. The wisdom of the world knows no better. Paul commended to Timothy the "Holy Scriptures which are able to make these wise unto salvation." The wisdom that leads to salvation is wisdom indeed but that comes through the blood of the cross which is unto the wise of the day, foolishness. They are perishing, for the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness.

Editor Register:

Have been much interested in watching how the supervisors act regarding the relief situation, and trying to figure out why they apparently don't want to spend the money on hand for this purpose. Then I remembered how money was spent around Fuller Park and Yorba Linda four years ago, when Supervisor Schumacher was running for re-election, and Fuller Park and Yorba Linda voted solidly for him.

Then I recalled how money was spent in Milton's Smith's, and Jeffrey's districts for road improvements before the last county election when they were re-elected. Lemon Heights, Capistrano, and Costa Mesa improvements came to mind. So I began to wonder if the supervisors are trying to save some of the funds on hand for campaign purposes this fall, using it where it will do them the most good at that time, and putting a large number of voters on the county payroll at election time. If such is the case, it must be on the theory that voters at work will vote right, but voters at work in March might not vote right in August or November, for they might forget by that time who saved them their jobs.

While investigating public matters and fighting in behalf of the people, as against the self-seeking politicians and political bosses, this question which has popped into my mind might be worth investigating, also, to see if that is one of the reasons why 3500 men were laid off Wednesday while the tax money is being held intact in the treasury to fulfill "promises," perhaps made to themselves.

Lease Planned On Beach Club

SAN CLEMENTE, March 7.—Plans are under way to make the San Clemente Beach club and its fresh water pool an amusement center the coming year. Bill Baker and Jean Dumonte, of Hollywood, are seeking to lease the club from the city and will meet soon with Supervisor of Public Works Jimmy Bennett to draw up papers. They plan to open the club to the public on Easter, March 27.

SAN CLEMENTE WINS

SAN CLEMENTE, March 7.—Members of the Spanish village tennis team invaded Oceanside Saturday and returned with major honors, 6 to 3. In the singles, Lionel "Tubby" Ogden, George Hughes, Ray Tyler and Dr. Paul Esslinger won. In the doubles, Hughes and Ogden and Reusch and Esslinger took honors. Tim Clough and Reusch lost in the singles and Clough and Tyler were defeated in the doubles.

Besides the players the following were present, Mrs. Victoria Cotton, Mrs. Ogden, Mrs. Esslinger and son, Mrs. Tyler and son, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Billips, Mrs. Reusch and son and Win Keel.

NEW DRAMA STUDIO TO OPEN IN CITY

A new, low price system of instruction, embracing all forms of stage dancing, dramatic art, children's orchestras and revues and women's gymnasium classes, is being opened in Santa Ana by the Metro Studios of Dancing and Dramatic Art. It was announced today by A. D. Comito business manager.

Included on the teaching staff will be Dixie Chapman, who has appeared in several productions in this vicinity; Emmett Osborne, composer and playwright; and Grace Hirlgoyen, who will be in charge of the creative and musical comedy department. Osborne, who will be in charge of the dramatic department, was formerly program director at KFI, Comito said.

Relay Win Gives Dons Meet

DANERI MAKES 20 POINTS IN 64-63 VICTORY

Thrills usually come at intervals during a track and field meet, but virtually all of them came at once when Coach Bill Cook's Santa Ana junior college Dons, trailing 62-51 after the first 13 of 15 events, came through in the javelin and relay to score a 64-63 victory over San Bernardino in their first Orange Empire conference dual meet here Saturday.

By taking a second in the javelin while Jim Daneri, Santa Ana's ironman, was winning a first, Overton Fowlkes scored three points which meant the difference between victory and defeat for the Dons. Had Fowlkes scored only a third, San Bernardino would have won, 65 to 62.

Garnering the exceptional total of 20 1-4 points, Daneri turned in the greatest performance of the morning. He won the shot put, discus and javelin, took second in the 220-yard hurdles, third in the broad jump, and ran the best lap in the mile relay.

Dons "Sweep" Shot

Daneri won the discus on his last throw, defeating DeWiese of San Bernardino. It didn't make much difference how he finished in the shot put for Santa Ana made a clean sweep in this event. Daneri taking first, Ellwood Lindley second and Captain Doyle Gilbert third.

Rhodes Finley, with a strong finish, won the 440-yard dash for Santa Ana in 55.2 seconds, and indicated that after a week or two more of practice he will be up in the money. Bill Campbell of the Dons took second place, with Baycombe of San Bernardino finishing third.

Frank Nagamatsu, another candidate who has been handicapped by lack of practice, won the 880-yard run in 2 minutes, 13 seconds to beat out Criley of San Bernardino and Tom Cone of Santa Ana.

Cone, taking only a third in the mile and 880-yard runs, showed that he was not in condition, especially since the time in the mile was 4 minutes, 58 seconds. He ran a brilliant lap in the mile relay, however, and gave a comfortable lead to Daneri, who continued gaining and was approximately 25 yards ahead when Campbell took the baton for the third lap.

Lindley Jumps 5'11"

Fred Hobson, San Bernardino, nosed out Ellwood Lindley of Santa Ana in the high jump, Hobson going 5 feet, 11 1-2 inches, Lindley 5'11". Martin Loenzen was unable to compete for Santa Ana. He pulled a muscle in practice and was forced out of the jump and pole vault.

Captain Gilbert took a second in the pole vault behind San Bernardino's Walton, who cleared 11 feet. The Don leader also took a third in the century, but was kept out of the broad jump, his favorite event, because of an injured heel.

Merrill Bauer contributed six points to Santa Ana's jile by finishing second to Woods of San Bernardino in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes. The former Orange Hi athlete showed good early season form.

Paul Junkett, with a leap of 21 feet, 2 inches, won the broad jump.

TWO BIG COMPTON INNINGS ROUT DONS

Two bad innings, the fourth and seventh, in which its opponent scored nine runs, proved fatal to Coach Clyde Cook's Santa Ana junior college baseball team in its first practice game at Compton Saturday, the Tartars winning, 15-10.

Home runs by Stamper in the third and Sopp in the seventh contributed five Compton runs. Howard, Tartar first baseman, was on the bags when Stamper connected, while in the seventh Howard and Stamper preceded Sopp on the round-trip journey.

The Dons were in Long Beach today for their second practice contest. Wednesday they go to Fullerton to face Coach Art Nunn's junior college nine.

C. F. Patton won match play Sunday. He was one down. Elmer Curry and Don Andrews were even.

GOLDEN BEARS COAST BASKET CHAMPS AGAIN

BERKELEY, March 7.—(UP)—The University of California celebrated today its fifth coast conference basketball championship in eight years, earned by a dual victory over the stalwarts of Washington university.

Twenty minutes of inspired play Saturday night, in which a five of Coach Clarence ("Nebe") Price's men combined for their greatest effort of the season, gave California a 36-24 decision which clinched the title.

While 10,000 fans in Oakland auditorium cheered, the Golden Bear quintet loosed a daring attack that swept Coach "Nebe" Edmondson's men off their feet and piled up a 22-8 California lead in the first half. In the closing period the Bears were content to hold their own, concentrating on keeping the Huskies from cutting down the long margin.

The deciding game of the title series was vastly different from the opening tilt Friday night, which California won in the closing seconds by a 22-21 score. The Bears worked hard and fast, outdistancing Washington in every department.

Joe Kintana, California's ace forward, was high scorer of the game with 11 points while Elbert, his teammate, made 10 and Reed, center, six. Captain Ralph Cairney and Ned Nelson, guards, gathered six each for Washington and Fullerton, center, four.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

(By United Press)

PALO ALTO.—The Detroit Tigers prepared today for their opening exhibition game with the Seals at San Francisco tomorrow. Manager "Fuzzy" Harris nominated Art Herberger for the hurling with Goldstein, Hogsett and Collier in reserve.

SAVANNAH, Ga.—All infielders were expected to be on hand today when the Boston Red Sox started their second week of training. Outfielder Jack Rothrock was the only new arrival yesterday.

NEW ORLEANS.—The Cleveland Indians seem to have found their batting eye early. The Tribe slammed two pitchers for 13 hits in defeating New Orleans 10 to 5 yesterday.

MIAMI.—Today found "Dizzy" Dean, rookie pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, a chastened young man. Dean started against the Philadelphia Athletics in an exhibition game yesterday and was touched for four home runs and six runs in the first inning. The A's finally won, 14 to 12. Rottger hit three home runs for the winners, No. 3 coming in the eighth inning with two men on base.

TAMPA, Fla.—Braving a cold wind, the Reds took the field against a team of Cuban semi-pros yesterday and beat them 5 to 0. Leo Durocher, shortstop, was the only Red to play throughout the entire game.

ST. PETERSBURG.—Beginning today, Manager Bill McKechnie of the Boston Braves, hopes to make sprint races a feature of the team's training.

BILOXI, Miss.—Dave Harris, utility outfielder, and Helms Maunich, expected to be the only players absent when the Washington Senators worked out today.

FAVOR ORANGE IN SOUTHLAND PREP PLAYOFFS

Orange high school's sensational basketball squad today was installed as favorite in the struggle for the Southern California prep championship, won in 1931 by Whittier Hi.

When Coach "Hod" Chambers' Panthers turned back Long Beach Poly, undefeated Coast Preparatory league titleholders, 23-21, in an overtime period Saturday night, they put themselves ahead of the other contenders—Chaffey, San Luis Obispo, Monrovia and Chino. Chaffey got into the "charmed circle" by eliminating Pomona, 28-18, last Saturday.

Orange's next opponent will not be known until Wednesday but the Orange league champions are sure to start again next Saturday, in the semi-finals at neutral Whittier. Two games will be run off that night, with the Southern California titular finals due the following week end.

In the five-minute extra period necessary to settle the dramatic Orange-Long Beach struggle, Center Lawrence Leichtfuss dropped in the winning basket from under the hoop, after taking a perfect pass from Welty.

Long Beach previously had drawn first blood in the overtime free-for-all. Peterson sinking a long shot to make the count 21-19. Forward Moise came right back and tied the score again at 21-all with a long shot of his own, and with seconds to go it appeared that another extra session would be required. Then Welty dribbled down the floor, passed to lanky Leichtfuss and the game was over.

A 5-4 lead compiled in the first quarter gave Long Beach a one-point margin that was retained until the final quarter. Each five scored identically in the second and third quarters. Led by Leichtfuss and Welty, Orange managed to tie the count at 19-19 as the regulation game ended. Welty's fine floorwork really kept Orange in the game in the first half.

The widest margin enjoyed by either team was established late in the second quarter and early in the third period. A follow shot by Peterson, high-point center, and a charity toss by Hess brought the count to 16-6 at one time. In the third quarter the Jackrabbits once had a 16-13 lead.

The lineup:

Long Beach (21) (23) Orange
Rahadale (6) F. (2) Moise
Takahashi (6) F. (4) Gunther
Peterson (14) C. Leichtfuss (8)
Welty (10) G. (7) Welty
Montoya (5) G. (1) McBride

Score by Periods

Long Beach (21) 5 7 4 3 2-21
Orange (23) 4 10 4 4 5-27

Long Beach substitutions: Gauhan for Montoya. Orange substitutions: Myers for McBride.

BEGIN A. A. U. HOOP TITLE PLAY TONIGHT

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 7.—(UP)—Initial games of the National A. A. U. basketball tournament were to open in convention hall this afternoon with 35 teams from every section of the country entered.

The Wichita Henry's were accorded an edge by virtue of having won the championship the last two years. That they will be hard put to retain it, was forecast by followers who studied their competition. They start against Albers' Cleaners, Cedar Rapids, Ia., tonight.

Day and night play will continue through the week, with the championship game run off Saturday night.

The Kansas City Athletic club quintet, which lost the championship game with the Henry's last year, faces a hard assignment tonight, the West Texas Teachers' college of Canyon.

The Pasadena, Calif. Majors were expected to deal the championship aspirants some blows before Saturday night's final whistle. They boast a victory over the Henry's in California, but lost to them a few nights ago in Wichita.

The coast squad plays the Weatherford, Okla., Teachers Tuesday night.

With only three more rounds of play remaining, half of the eight-team personnel of the Orange County Sunday Baseball league was today tied for first place.

Five clubs started yesterday's schedule in a deadlock, one of them, Laguna Beach, falling slightly behind by losing to Huntington Beach. The others—Hancock Oil of Santa Ana, Huntington Beach, La Habra and Tustin—kept in step by winning.

Carl Ruecker's Hancock Oilers had a cakewalk with Irvine, running up a 19-3 victory in a game at Martin's airport park. Sheppard, Hancock Oil gunner, had a fine day, limiting the Beanypickers to two runs and three hits in eight innings.

Hancock Oil made nine runs in the first two innings, knocking Mallett out of the box and treating his successor, Stevens, almost as rudely. The Oilers put on a seven-run act in the sixth.

OPEN MEETING IS CALLED FOR NEXT THURSDAY

Capitalizing on the tremendous interest of the moment in all tennis activities here, Santa Ana enthusiasts will meet Thursday night at the Barr Lumber company clubrooms, 1022 East Fourth street, and organize the Santa Ana Tennis club.

The gathering has been called by John Cress, well known Santa Ana player and tournament director who announced that anyone interested in becoming either an active or inactive member will be welcome.

"We hope to enlist the support of men and women, as well as girls and boys," Cress stated, "and urge those of all ages to help us get the ball rolling. The club will be open to all, with no restrictions."

"One of those interested in our plans is Miss Josephine Cruickshank, one of the finest women players in the country, who has promised to lend us the advantage of her experience so that we shall organize properly."

Randolph Bell and John Cress today had their "revenge" on Josephine Cruickshank and Lewis Wetherell.

Bell and Cress, veteran doubles combination, defeated Miss Cruickshank and Wetherell, 9-7, 8-6, 8-6, 7-5, at Frances Willard junior high school yesterday. Miss Cruickshank and Wetherell recently beat Bell and Cress in a five-set match, and the vanquished had asked and received a "return engagement."

Although the gallery was considerably smaller than on the occasion of Miss Cruickshank's first exhibition, fully 300 spectators watched the progress of the match.

Douglas Imhoff, Murry Hallman, Kenneth Nisley, Bill Hawkins and Freddie Pimental have been installed favorites in the Santa Ana boys' tournament, which began at Frances Willard Saturday.

These youngsters all won their first round matches convincingly, and their work will be watched carefully next Saturday morning when second round play starts at 8 a.m.

Imhoff, outstanding favorite, won his first round contest from M. Young in love sets and Hallman gave his opponent but three games, as did also McIntyre.

Santa Ana Tennis club officials expect to develop some strong players among these juveniles. The tourney is open to boys of 14 years or under. It will be an annual event here. Saturday's results:

D. Imhoff defeated M. Young, 6-0, 6-0.
C. McIntyre d. F. Davis, 6-1, 6-2.
P. Hawk d. C. Linger, 6-3, 7-5.
G. Young d. M. Hawkins, 6-4, 6-2.
J. Wallace d. C. Manning, default.
R. Bradley d. M. Jacobs, 11-9, 5-7, 6-2.
M. Nisley d. C. Flies, 6-3, 6-0.
B. Hawkins d. C. Aubrey, 6-4, 3-6.
R. Boyd d. M. Dietrick, default.
F. Pimental d. R. Fuller, 7-5, 6-1.
R. Porter d. B. Semacher, 6-4, 6-6.
S. Preble d. T. Johnson, 6-2, 6-2, 7-5.
M. Hallman d. M. Smith, 6-1, 6-2.
B. Blakemore d. C. Clingan, 10-8, 6-3.

Entries close Thursday at 6 p.m. for the Santa Ana mixed doubles competition, scheduled to begin next Sunday.

Director Cress reports that candidates are slow in reporting and urges those desirous of playing to communicate with him immediately. He may be reached by telephoning No. 3399.

BAHAMAS WINNER OF CALIENTE DERBY

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., March 7.—(UP)—Bahamas held a lead around the mile and sixteenth course yesterday to win the $5000 added Agua Caliente Derby by a length.

Cabezo came in second and Nacho, an outsider, third. Bahamas, owned by the Oak Tree stable, broke fast after standing calmly at the post while Durango and Cabezo delayed the start 10 minutes.

Bahamas, a three-year-old, is a son of Bon Homme and Covering.

OPENING PRICES

Right about this time annually there comes a day when Thomas Kearney straightens up from his huddle and bequeaths his pre-season prices on the chances of the major league teams in the pennant races. Mr. Kearney, you know, is the St. Louis betting man. His revelations are always interesting.

If you are a picker of Jim Dandys, Kearney has conveniently supplied you a select list of three this season. One is Dan Howley's Cincinnati Reds, very choice at 100 to 1 in the National League. The others are the Red and White Sox, of Boston and Chicago, respectively.

Suppose you like the Reds to win in the National. Just write Mr. Kearney a note, enclose a ten-dollar bill, then sit back and wait for the $1000 that it yours if the Reds sail under the wire in front next September. Meantime, Kearney probably will go out and buy himself a new hat with your ten-spot.

Once in a while, though, betting odds find a way of falling flat. Now and then a Jim Dandy sneaks out at 100-1 and beats a Gallant Fox and the pastime of wagering becomes more fascinating.

CARDS, A'S EVEN MONEY

Dollar-for-dollar is all you can get from the St. Louis betting commissioner by backing the Cardinals to make it three in a row in the National. It's the same way in the American, where the Athletics will shoot at four straight pennants. The cards are 2 to 5 to place and 1 to 5 to show. The Mackmen are 3 to 4 to place, and entirely out of the show place.

You may get an idea about the American League race by the show prices on the Athletics, Yankees and Senators. There aren't any. The Indians are 8-1 and 1-4; c/o. The Indians are 8-1, 2-1 and 1-2.

In the National League 4 the Giants are 5-2, 7-10 and 1-4; the Robins, 5-1, even money and 2-5, while the Cubs, with Bureleigh Grimes, or maybe it's in spite of him, are 4-1, 3-2 and 1-2.

SECOND DIVISION ODDS HIGH

If the price on last year's second division teams are an indication of their improvement in 1932, there still seems to be room for added strength. Pittsburgh is down at 10-1 to win, 3-1 to place and even money to show. Prices on the Braves, Phillies, Reds, Tigers, Browns, Red Sox and White Sox are higher, considerably higher.

Quite a few of us were thinking that perhaps the White Sox could go some place this year under

TAKES MAN TO WORK FOR GOD. PASTOR SAYS

EL MODENA, March 7.—Using as a text John 14:1, "Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in me," the Rev. James E. Flisk of the Friends church, spoke in part yesterday as follows:

"Jesus is the one who knows this church better than I do or better than you do, even if you had lived here a hundred years. He has His plan for your life and mine, and He wants to work it out. It wouldn't disturb me if I didn't get to preach at all. If I was to follow a plan I might say lots of good things, whether I made an impression that I was intellectual or not. If our affections are set on material things, every nation and every man has found the end of material things. The mind of man is too finite to lead him on. We will never be able to solve the mystery of God, and when He is in control, we are never going to come to the end of the vision. The reason today that the pews are empty, is because men have lost interest in God and the church. They have got tired of the preaching they hear; they haven't ceased to hunger and thirst after righteousness. If ever there was a time when the repentance of Nineveh was needed, it is today. The world has never been considering religion as they are today, and the devil has never been more busy. The enemy is having the struggle of his life to keep people from finding God. If the devil can keep us asleep, the world will not be able to take on, new life and grip God. The time comes when if we haven't God we are lost. There is a great bunch of people who are helpless, they are merely hanging on to material things.

"We find all through the ages people seeking God through idols. We are trying to put education first; we serve Him this way and that way, but we need God. You don't need a new church as bad as I prayed and poured out my heart to God, I had a vision of Sunday desecration. In our thoughts and conversation we can desecrate God, with our material things and the affairs of life are to be discarded and your soul will be open, and all these things will be in the background. The hour of worship is a time of refreshing; read soul food, strengthening the inner man. On the Sabbath day we rest from labor and bath day we enter into the Holy of Holies. The devil is busy; it takes a man to serve the Lord. I know I love God, but in my vision I had to fight to keep the enemy from crowding in material things, that I might be able to keep the Sabbath day holy. If you want to grow in grace you want to give."

Men's Community Bible Class In Member Contest

ORANGE, March 7.—With the Rev. James Sawyer as the teacher, the Men's Community Bible class had a record attendance Sunday morning at the first of the month's meetings during which a membership contest is in progress. F. L. Almsworth, who is the leader of the "white side," reported five new members secured by his workers. C. W. Coffey is the leader of the opposition forces, "the blues."

L. A. Durler presided and the Goodwill choir of the First Presbyterian church furnished the music. The choir is composed of 25 men and is directed by Percy Green.

Motion Pictures Of Grand Canyon For Farm Center

ORANGE, March 7.—A tamale dinner will be one of the features of the meeting of the Foot-hill Farm center at the Villa Park social hall Wednesday evening. The program will be devoted to entertainment which will include a one-act play given by students of the Orange union high school.

Through the courtesy of W. A. Shook, Santa Ana agent for the Union Pacific railway, and A. T. Jackson, district passenger agent from Los Angeles, motion pictures showing the north rim of Grand Canyon, scenes from Bryce canyon and Zion National park will be shown.

O. E. Gunther, president of the center, will preside and reservations are to be made through the secretary, W. C. Armstrong, by post cards or by telephone.

Olympic Sewing Club Organized

ORANGE, March 7.—Organizing the Olympic Sewing club, a group of women met recently in the home of Mrs. A. C. Tulene, West Maple avenue. Mrs. Tulene was elected president and Mrs. C. H. Adams, press reporter.

Many spring flowers were used in decking the home for the occasion. Concluding the afternoon of sewing, the hostess served a dainty refreshment course.

Members of the club include Mrs. Tulene and Mrs. C. H. Adams, Mrs. Hart Pennington, Mrs. Harriett Buhrman, Mrs. Edna McCollum, Mrs. W. C. Pritchard, Mrs. Hazel Tulene and Mrs. Mabel Lee. Mrs. Adams will be hostess at the meeting in April, entertaining in her home, 132 South Clark street.

13 CANDIDATES CONFIRMED AT CHURCH RITES

ORANGE, March 7.—An impressive service was held at the Trinity Episcopal church last night, when 13 candidates were confirmed by the Rt. Rev. Robert B. Gooden, D. D., of Los Angeles. Dr. Gooden chose the topic for his sermon from Acts and told of Paul's life and his efforts to follow the example of Christ. The bishop admonished members of the class that they, too, must follow in His footsteps and urged them to grow in grace and in the true attributes of Christianity.

Nine members of the class confirmed were adults. Dr. Gooden, who is well known through the state as a forceful and eloquent speaker, was formerly headmaster of the Harvard Military School for Boys. The altar was banked with fragrant blossoms and the church was attractively decorated with stock and other flowers. The choir sang "Unto the Hills" as a part of the musical program arranged for the evening.

Following the service a reception for Dr. and Mrs. Gooden was held in the parish hall which was attractively decorated for the occasion. Refreshments were served by women of the Trinity guild. At the morning service the Rev. J. A. Shirley, rector, gave the third of a series of addresses on events leading up to the crucifixion and the subject of yesterday's talk was "The Trial Before Calaphas, the High Priest."

Clark's Petition For Re-election to City Office Filed

ORANGE, March 7.—The petition of Paul E. Clark, city clerk, candidate for re-election, was filed this morning. Clark was elected city clerk four years ago. His petition was circulated by Chad Robinson.

The petition is signed by F. A. Blake, Louis Roth, Ed H. Dierker, W. G. Neely, C. E. Bumpus, E. C. Robertson, J. R. Porter, P. M. Rogers, Ernest S. Ross.

A resident of the city for the past 26 years, Clark is well known as a public accountant and auditor and for a number of years was connected with the Santa Fe railway.

WILLING WORKERS TO ASSIST NEEDY

ORANGE, March 7.—An all day meeting of the Willing Workers' society was a pleasant feature of the past week, taking place in the home of Mrs. Euphemia Ralls, North Handy street. Concluding a morning devoted to sewing, a covered dish luncheon was served at noon.

Mrs. Bert Deck opened the afternoon session with prayer. The study of the book of Job was continued during the study period. The group voted to assist a family in need as a feature of its welfare work.

The afternoon program included a vocal solo by Mrs. C. A. McGill and a vocal duet by Mrs. McGill and Mrs. Leon Des Larzes. Those present included the hostess, Mrs. Ralls, and Mesdames Gladys McDonald, Huffman, E. Stone, Bert Deck, Hall, Charles Grove, Campbell, Barnett, E. A. Kern, Smith, George Merriman, Core, Elliott, De Groote, Lusk, Van Burne, Gingles, Wells and F. D. De Lano.

Mrs. De Lano will entertain the club at its next meeting on March 18.

PRESBYTERIAN YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD SERVICE

ORANGE, March 7.—Sunday evening was young people's night at the First Presbyterian church in Orange. The meeting was led by Ed Settle, who outlined the service. He said there were three purposes in this service, to show that young people have a place in the service; to solicit the aid of adult members in finding a place for young people to serve, and to interest old and young in the work our church is doing for young people.

There was an anthem, "Come Unto Me," sung by the young people's choir. The choir also gave a special hymn number, Sam McElfresh gave a report of the Young People's conference at Balboa a few weeks ago for college young people. There were about 50 delegates present. Among other subjects discussed were those of "Personal Christianity," and "Religion on the College Campus." All were interested in trying to get more light on religious subjects and how to lead a better Christian life.

The scripture was read by Kenneth Stowell and Edgar Lush. The leader then introduced Morris Singer, who spoke on "We Would Serve Our Church." He told how in the beginning people began to see the church as God's voice. Some churches courted martyr-

Addresses Heard Yesterday In Santa Ana Churches

STAND ALONE FOR JESUS IS
SERMON THEME

"Standing Alone" was the subject of the Sunday morning sermon delivered by Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene. The text was recorded in St. Matthew 27:22, "Pilate saith unto them, 'What shall I do then with Jesus when he is called Christ?' They all say unto him, 'Let Him be crucified.'"

When Pilate was trying to compromise with the people, his wife sent a message to him, telling him to have nothing to do with that "just man." She represents the struggling, persistent conscience of an individual.

"John the Baptist, when preaching by the River Jordan, looked up and said, 'Behold the Lamb of God which taketh away the sins of the world.' The crowds left John to follow Jesus."

"Only a small group of disciples represented those massive crowds at the last supper, and in the garden He played alone. He stood alone before Pilate, and remained alone in the shadow of the cross. While He fed them and ministered to them they followed Him, but when He tried to give them spiritual food they dissipated."

"The prodigal son squandered his money. To unworthy friends until it was spent and then was forsaken. Sorrow, misfortune, distress, and depression are a test of friendship. Those who stand with you when you stand for your convictions are the true friends. It takes no character, will power, no reputation or exertion to cast our lot with the crowds, but it takes the grace of God to stand against the prevailing elements with the minority. Christ stood alone for us. Will we stand at any cost for Him?"

"The supreme question of today is, 'What are we going to do with Christ?' Not historically; it means more than that. You must either be for him or against him; you can't take neutral territory. You are saved or unsaved, Christian or sinner, in the broad or narrow path. You can't say you're not for Him and not against Him. Christ draws the line, and He knows what you are. If Pilate was guilty of making the wrong choice with the limited knowledge of the word in that day, how can we stand next to Him in the judgment day with the light which we have on the word of God today, and have a clean conscience? What are we going to do with the Christ of Calvary?"

SPECIAL SERVICES PLANNED
THIS WEEK AS SCOVILLE
MEETING COMES TO CLOSE

Entering upon the last week of his campaign in Santa Ana, Dr. Charles Reign Scoville, world famous evangelist who is conducting meetings at the First Christian church, has announced a series of special services this week. High lights of these are the sermon on "Ancient and Modern Lepers," to be given at the Orange Avenue Christian church tonight; a classical musical concert and illustrated lecture on "The Passion Play" at the First Christian church tomorrow night; and his famous booze sermon Wednesday night.

Converts who have made decisions during the two weeks that the invitation has been extended, are close to the 200 mark, it was announced yesterday as the fourth week of the campaign got under way.

In the sermon tonight at the Orange Avenue church Dr. Scoville, who has spent much time in the land of the lepers will describe the disease and show stereotypical pictures, and will contrast the modern immoral lepers with the ancient lepers.

The Passion Play lecture tomorrow night will include nearly 200 scenes of the great religious drama which is given once every 10 years at Oberammergau, in the German Alps, and is one that has drawn packed houses every place where he has given it. There is no charge for this lecture, but a silver offering will be taken at the door.

Great audiences were present at both services in the First Christian church yesterday. Dr. Scoville spoke during the morning service on the theme of stewardship, using as his subject "God and Your Conscience." "The Lord thinks of you, loves you and plans for you individually," he declared. "The way of happiness that God has planned for you is ahead. You can live with God here and now just as much as with Him over there after awhile. And it doesn't cost as much to live with God as it costs to live in sin."

"Poor indeed is the man who comes to the end of life with nothing to show for it but money. What does money amount to in a great crisis? There are richer legacies than some of these things we are thinking about night and day."

"What a change there would be in the world if we had the joyous giving spirit of Christmas all the time. Depression would take wings in the face of that. When the outlook is bad, try the uplook. 'The Bible is a revelation as well as an inspiration. The world, life, intellect, love—all are gifts of God. God owns all, we owe all. Are we even paying interest on what God has given us? Will we give God back what is His?'"

Last night the sermon was on the subject of the atonement, and the evangelist stressed the need of being born again.

"We need the blood of the Lamb of God in our hearts, just as the Israelites needed the blood of a lamb to save them from the destroyer on the night of the passover," he declared.

"Sin can divide your family, but thank God, death can't do it. We can become a part of the weep-not, part-not, die-not throng. I am glad I can preach the gospel of the everlasting atonement. When death comes to you can we say of you, 'Absent, but accounted for among the immortal?'"

"This is the age when we have smokeless powder, seedless oranges, horseless carriages and wireless telegraph, and some people want a bloodless religion and Christless Christianity."

"But if you will just take the Bible and stand on the promises of God, you will find the way to peace and the way to help others."

In her Sunday evening sermon on "The Duty We Owe to God," Ida L. Ewing, minister of the National Federation of Spiritual Science church, No. 68, said that the majority of the race feels handicapped in some form or other. This, she said, is especially true when they are asked to perform some line of service that means a sacrifice to them, usually making excuses for themselves endeavoring to get out of their own obligations.

She said that it is time for all to begin to realize their duty to God and man and that one is not placed here for self-enjoyment entirely as many seem to think.

"GOD SEEKING MAN" MESSAGE
OF REV. OWINGS

That the Great Divine Spirit is, Himself, seeking man and not leaving man to seek his Creator and God unaided, was declared yesterday by the Rev. Harry E. Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church to be the most inspiring truth in the world. This message was delivered during the morning service.

Reverend Owings said that the Book of Genesis, in an early chapter suggests this truth that has become the central declaration of the Christian religion and may be called the most inspiring thing in the world.

"God is not an unconcerned, disinterested, unimpassioned being," he said, "but is always coming, as Jesus declared, to seek and to save man, to seek him even when he breaks from his God and hides himself from God's face, to lift him when he falls and to make his life a thing of beauty and a joy forever."

Elaborating his theme the Reverend Owings said in part:

"This may not be the truth that has inspired the greatest number for there are many that have never been seized by it. But it is the truth, that has inspired to the loftiest heights of life and high purpose. Hear John declare that we love him because he first loved us. It was the fundamental truth in Paul's experience and formed the basis of his doctrine of salvation through the grace—the undeserved favor and mercy—of the Father in heaven."

"It is the truth that the writers seek to express in the figure of the shepherd. It is what Thompson experienced in his modern poem 'The Hound of Heaven.' Though he takes the wings of the morning and flies to the uttermost parts of the world man finds that even there a Heart seeks him, a Hand holds him, a Voice is there already calling him. George Matheson finds in his dire trouble that there is a Love that will not let him go."

"Each man may feel if he only will that the 'Spirit of the Lord' is upon him, summoning and ready to appoint him for some high and lofty life purpose. And as that Voice calls in the garden in the cool of the day it is for him like the first Adam to be in hiding trembling and afraid, or like that 'second Adam' making common cause with God to go on the high adventure of building the city of God."

PASTOR POINTS TO SPIRITUAL
IN FATHERHOOD

Speaking from the subject "Am I a Child of the Devil," Dr. George A. Warner, minister at the First Methodist church, reviewed the rise of the conception and went on to point out that fatherhood is more a matter of the spirit than it is of biology.

He said in part: "We gain insight by transferring the solution of the problem from the biological and metaphysical to the psychological field. Psychology lays bare three principles that undergird the father and son relationship. There must be a mutual belief and confidence. The challenge of fatherhood must develop a response on the part of the son to complete the transaction and vice versa."

"There must be a unity of purpose. The son at college wired 'No mon, no fun, your son.' The father replied, 'Too bad, terribly sad, your dad.' Where love is the dominating motive in both hearts the purpose becomes unified."

"There must be a mutual willingness to sacrifice. In this modern day there has been a tendency to demand all the sacrifice on the part of the parent. It may be that we have been doing an injustice to our sons, in that, the sacrifices have been too much made on the part of the parents, without an equal challenge for them to participate."

EVANGELIST HOLDS
FAREWELL SERVICE

Rev. "Billy" Black, who has just finished an evangelistic campaign in the Foursquare church, and conducted services in Orange county this last week will conduct one more service, a farewell service to night, at 7:30. Reverend Black will be accompanied by his wife, Lola Margaret Black, and they will sing several duets and solos preceding the sermon.

Reverend Black will speak on "The Great Detective." A thrilling and interesting message. Young people are urged to come. The Foursquare band also will be present to play. Reverend Black leaves Wednesday for Fresno to conduct a three weeks' campaign, in the Foursquare church there.

CITES FEAR AND DIVIDED
LOYALTY AS CAUSES OF WORRY; POINTS OUT CURE

"Worry is one of the enemies of happiness," said the Rev. Perry Frederick Schrock in his sermon at the First Congregational church yesterday morning. "There are many of us who could say with Katherine Tynan,

'I wish I could get the peace of the mountains into me, 'And not have all the world a trouble to me.

'I am full of frets and fatigues, of angers and fears, 'I wish the mountains would teach me their secret of peace.'

"Worry is not something new in the experience of man. It is one of the needs of man that Jesus recognized and tried to meet. In the space of nine verses he speaks of worry four times. 'Do not worry about life.' 'Why should you worry about clothing?' 'Do not worry and say, What shall we have to eat, or what shall we have to drink, or what shall we have to wear?' 'Do not worry about tomorrow.' You see people worried about the same things that they worry about now. The interesting thing about it for us is that Jesus claimed to have a cure for worry. Perhaps it would be better to say that He had a way of life that prevented worry. That people worry, we know. It is a cure for worry that interests us."

"Fear is the mother of worry. People worry because they are afraid. 'Everyone is living or working in fear,' says Basil King. 'The mother is afraid for her children. The father is afraid for his business. The clerk is afraid for his job.' King goes on to say that this fear causes more misery than sin and sickness put together. We worry because we are afraid. To cure worry we must be able to conquer fear."

Best Cure
"Faith in God—in His greatness, His goodness, His availability for us—is the best cure for fear. Basil King was once the victim of fear. It ruined his health and made life a veritable nightmare. A teacher told him about the life-principle in the process of evolution. As he traced the process of evolutionary creation he saw that nothing could defeat that life-principle. 'As far as we can learn there never was an emergency yet which the life principle was not equipped to meet! That life-principle is my principle. It is my blood, my breath, my brain. I cannot cut myself off from it; it cannot cut itself off from me.' 'Jesus would identify the life-principle with God. That life-principle, manifested in the birds of the air and the flowers of the field, is God and He is yours and mine. 'What time I am afraid, I will put my trust in Thee. In God have I put my trust, I will not be afraid; what can flesh do unto me?' He who has made this discovery for himself, has learned the way to conquer fear and thereby conquer most of the worries of life."

Other Causes
"Fear is the main cause of worry but there are secondary causes. These secondary causes lie in the realm of our decisions, our standards of value, our loyalties. Jesus stated the matter in a very concrete and practical way. 'Where thy treasure is there will thy heart be also.' He contrasted the treasures that moth and rust can destroy and that could not be so destroyed or stolen. If the destroyable things are made our chief treasure we are quite apt to worry about them—worry about moth and rust and thieves."

"We worry because we have a wrong sense of value. We worry because we divide our loyalty. 'No man can serve two masters,' said Jesus. But we try to do just that thing. We try to be loyal to the ideals of Jesus and also loyal to the business, or political, or social ideals of our day. By the wildest stretch of our imaginations we cannot identify the ideals of Jesus with the industrial, political, social ideals of our day."

BIBLE CLASS
TOLD MARKS OF CHRISTIANITY

The marks of Christianity in life were graphically pictured during the lesson period at the Men's Community Bible class service in the Fox West Coast theater yesterday morning in a message brought to the men by Dr. Charles Reign Scoville, Chicago evangelist who is now conducting meetings here.

"Christianity in the home means kindness," the speaker asserted. "Let us be kind to those about us in our homes and not be more thought of those we meet in our business contacts than those in our homes."

"Christianity in business means honesty. This is of the greatest importance for if you boost a business but blast a character, you're a failure. You can succeed in both manhood and business."

"Christianity in play is fairness. We don't like to see those at play fudge or cheat. We must play fair. 'Christianity at work is thoroughness. Do the job you have so that it is the very best possible, don't just try to 'get by.' Make your work worth more than you get for it, for the man who can be trusted is the one who gets ahead."

"Christianity in the church is reverence. Live so the Lord is your shepherd, then you will die that way."

Endeavor Leader
In Church Talk

BUENA PARK, March 7.—Frederick Davis of Buena Park, prominent Christian Endeavor worker gave the Sunday evening sermon at the Congregational church. "Salesmanship," was the topic of his sermon. Paul's talk given at the time of his trial before Herod the second was given as an example.

To try to be loyal to both is to live a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde existence. To give one's devotion to one master is to unify life and simplify it and to prevent much of the needless, life-destroying worry."

HOUSEHOLDBridge Party Planned
As Compliment to Honeymooners

Designed as a "welcome home" from the honeymoon stay in Laguna Beach of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Wright, and also to present Mr. Wright to the extensive circle of friends of his bride, the former Miss Helen Randall, was a bridge party of individual charm given Friday night by Miss Frances Egge in her home, 1230 Bush street.

The recent marriage of Miss Randall, her life-long friend, and Mr. Wright, whose family has been bound by ties of friendship to the O. H. Egge family for many years, was of special interest to Friday night's hostess, who seized the earliest opportunity after their return from Laguna Beach for complimenting the honeymooners.

Approximately half a hundred guests from various points in the Southland, including school and family friends of the bride, were invited to share the evening of bridge. Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Egge assisted their daughter in receiving the guests.

Bridge tables were placed amidst a charming arrangement of stocks, sweet peas and similar spring flowers in which a variety of delicate pastel tones were mingled. The same floral note was apparent in tallies and score pads, and again in the wrappings of the gifts which fell to the lot of Mrs. George Perkins and a few days of the bride, who were high score.

When the awards were made, Miss Egge presented a guest prize to Mr. and Mrs. Wright. In the friendly interval of the refreshment course, tables were made doubly inviting by their low bowls of rainbow-hued blossoms.

Miss Egge was assisted in all details of serving by her mother and aunt, Mrs. Egge and Miss Bess C. Wood, and by Miss Eleanor Randall and Miss Grace Robertson.

Americanism Theme Is Developed At
D.A.R. Meeting

While patriotism is always the dominant theme of any meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the February meeting of the Santa Ana chapter, held Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. George W. Bond, 507 East Myrtle street, was given special significance because of the general observation of the Washington Bicentennial.

Mrs. Bond was assisted by a group of co-hostesses including Mrs. O. S. Johnston, Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, Mrs. Pearl Nicholson and Miss Mabel Whitling.

Mrs. M. M. Holmes, regent, conducted the opening interval and the business session, after which Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch was presented in a most interesting travelogue.

Mrs. Hatch took Virginia for her theme, dwelling especially upon places that had special bearing on the Bicentennial through their connection with George Washington. Yorktown, that historic spot, now is a village of but 300 souls, she declared.

Williamsburg and its little church, were described in detail. It is in Williamsburg that the monument to Mary Washington, mother of the first president, was erected, the only one of its kind to be paid for by women alone of the nation's patriots.

Following Mrs. Hatch's talk, Mrs. H. W. Guthrie, program chairman, introduced Miss Henrietta Armendarez, soloist, and her accompanist, Miss Marian Grant, as the first numbers on an Americanism program.

Mrs. Armendarez delighted the audience with her solos, "La Borrachita," and "Cielito Lindo," followed by an encore, "La Paloma."

Mrs. Bessie Harter, teacher in the adult education department at Logan school, related details of her work and classes, saying that there are now 70 persons registered in the night classes.

Illustrating the artistic tendencies of the women, she displayed a succession of pictures and posters of Mexico, some depicting the colorful fiestas, some the capital, and one in particular of the historic bells rung only on the annual celebration of Mexican Independence day.

She described some of the activities of the teachers in giving instruction to Mexican women in domestic science, in which a diploma is awarded for a year's work. Apropos of this, she told of asking for the number of American dishes which class members had learned and had prepared in their own homes.

They had learned and used 16 recipes in the interval since school opened in September.

These details were especially interesting to D. A. R. members, for a department of the society called the "Home Makers' club" has just been inaugurated here by Mrs. Guthrie, and this department is sponsor of exactly such work.

A social hour followed the program, and Mrs. Bond and her co-hostesses served a dainty tea menu to lighten the friendly sociability.

Mrs. John Sargent of Costa Mesa and Mrs. William Hart of this city were hostesses at a charming shower honoring Mrs. Earl Matthews recently, giving the affair in the Hart home, 1606 West Fourth street.

Pink and white was the theme chosen for the many pretty appointments of the afternoon. Games and contests were enjoyed, with Mrs. Percy Gammell and Mrs. Grace Anderson winning prizes.

The honored guest was given many lovely gifts wrapped in pink and white tissues and ribbons, and presented to her in a large basket tied with fluffy "cotton" bows.

During the refreshment hour, the hostesses served a lovely cake with pink and white ice cream. Napkins and other details used at this time were in keeping with the pink and white combination.

Those present included Mesdames William Graham, Scott, Roy McGee, Arnett, J. H. Noble, Mason, Helmer, Percy Gammell, H. C. Colby, Arthur Williams, Grace Anderson, Ben Sargent, William English O. A. Harmon, P. Zlackett, Mrs. Sargent and Mrs. Hart.

Mrs. Matthews was formerly Miss Dorothy Sargent, and will be remembered as "Dot" of "Dot and Ben" of KREG.

S. A. Resident Receives
Congratulations on
80th Birthday

Callers bearing birthday bouquets streamed in and out of S. D. B. Moore's home at 424 South Birch street all day Saturday bringing felicitations and good wishes for the complete recovery of their host, who passed his 80th milestone this week end. Although confined to his bed for the past three months with illness, Mr. Moore was able to spend a short time Saturday on his porch for the first time since late November, and members of his family pronounced his condition as greatly improved.

Mr. Moore enjoyed a full day, being greeted at breakfast with verses and gifts provided by his nieces, Mrs. Ed Leech, of St. Paul, and Miss Margaret Ashley, of this city, and by his nurse, Miss Anne Stolpe, and receiving visitors bearing greetings and additional gifts, throughout the afternoon.

Bringing special joy was a beautifully decorated birthday cake lit with candles, which was presented him by Mrs. Alice Sturgeon and Mrs. R. E. Hostetter.

Born in Lake Mills, Wis., Mr. Moore spent most of his life in Wisconsin and in Minnesota, before coming to Santa Ana 17 years ago. He has resided here continuously since his arrival.

Among those paying him tribute Saturday were Messrs. Arthur Richard, G. D. McMullen, L. M. Lester, W. P. Heninger, Colonel Henry C. Akin, Dr. George Jones, Dr. Luther Maroon and Dr. Lawrence C. Cameron; Dr. and Mrs. George Dobson, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Vandermast, Mesdames R. E. Coulter, Ella Wilson and mother; Winifred Coon, Mary Sandon, and T. C. Oberlin; the Misses Kate Richard, Charlotte Smith, Nan McMillen, Claire Lester, and Edna Miller, and Master Jack Hostetter.

Mr. Moore's 80th birthday was celebrated in a most fitting manner, with many guests and a large cake.

Executive

In announcing the regular bi-monthly executive board meeting for the Southern District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held at Redlands on Friday, March 11, Mrs. Albert Launer, president, has outlined a program for the day which will appeal to everyone.

Mrs. E. E. Smith of Anaheim, Orange county president, will lead a forum on the subject, "It's Up to the Women," when those present will discuss whether or not they believe the remedy of our present financial condition is up to the women, and if so, why and how.

Carrying out the practical theme, presidents of district clubs will meet for a discussion of the problem of unpaid dues, and M. E. Grier, supervisor of San Bernardino county, will explain the tax measure which is to be placed on the November ballot.

Reports of district chairmen and county presidents will sum up the year's efforts, and the rest of the time will be given over to the consideration of finances.

The meeting will be held at the Contemporary club of Redlands, Fourth and Vine street, with Mrs. Geo. H. Bunnell as official hostess.

Every clubwoman interested is cordially invited to attend, and it is urged that reservations be made at once with Mrs. H. H. Nickerson, 728 West Crescent street, Redlands.

Southern Conference

Orange county clubwomen have been interested in the invitation extended this week by Mrs. Earl E. Smith, president of the county federation, to attend a lunch and program Wednesday, March 23, at the Elks' clubhouse in Anaheim.

Agnes McEuen, state vice-president-at-large, will hold a Southern Conference of state board members.

Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock in the club cafe, and clubwomen are asked to make reservations with Mrs. Smith.

The morning session will be a business meeting for state board members only, but clubwomen are cordially invited to attend the luncheon and program.

Birthday Party Given
Mrs. Walter Foote
By Neighbors

The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Walter E. Foote occasioned an informal party arranged in her honor by a group of her neighbors and given Friday in her home at 315 East Myrtle street.

A long table, prettily appointed with sweet peas and other spring blooms, awaited guests in the dining room, where a pleasant hour was passed at luncheon before all repaired to another room to hear readings given by Mrs. Foote.

The hostess was a recipient of a number of lovely gifts and opened and displayed them for the pleasure of her guests during the course of an afternoon spent informally.

Guests aiding in the celebration were Mesdames Caleb Jackson, Harry Hovey, Clarence Bond, Coates W. Leamer, Lucy Whitting, C. H. Husted, Justus Birtcher, Julia P. Hulsiek, R. J. Reed, C. I. Foster, Theresa McMullen, Calvin Wilkie and Miss Rachel Foster.

"STICKERS" ON PROGRAM AMAZE STUDIO STAFF

Everyone connected with the semi-weekly "sticker" programs over KREG, including Art Cannon, pianist, were amused that more requests on the Wednesday program were stickers than had been expected. Cannon said after the program had been completed: "It is one thing to know hundreds of popular numbers, new and old, but it is another thing to be able to call them to mind and play them instantly."

This program is sponsored twice each week by the Chapman-Wickett department store of Fullerton and is unique in that it is the first "sticker" that wins the merchandise order on the sponsoring store. Everyone, even those persons who send in requests just before the program ends, has an opportunity to win the prize. The system of awards is explained at the beginning of each program. Telephone calls from practically every Orange county and many outside communities indicate a widespread interest. The program has a double lure for listeners. One is the fun of sticking Cannon and the other is the chance of winning a merchandise order. These programs are broadcast every Monday and Wednesday nights from 7 until 7:30 p. m.

LONELY TROUBADOR ON WOMAN'S HOUR

As a special treat for the ladies Bill Leahy, The Lonely Troubadour, will be guest artist on the Woman's Hour program tomorrow morning at 9:45 o'clock, according to Genevieve Knox who conducts the program. Leahy, who has been entertaining over KREG for several months is popular with a large audience of listeners because of the many pleasing programs he has presented from the Anaheim studio. He has a pleasing personality, is very bashful, and refuses to talk near a microphone. He prefers to convey his thoughts in song.

ALL REQUEST PROGRAM WILL BE BROADCAST

Sponsored by the Peggy Shop, radio KREG will present an all-request program tonight at 6:30 p. m. This program will offer a variety of talent by electrical transcription.

Outstanding orchestras and vocalists will present all the latest song and dance hits as well as semi-classics according to requests. The sponsors have selected 6:30 as the hour for their presentation believing that it is best time to present a popular program.

The decision to make the program an all-request feature was made in order that the presentation would have an appeal to every taste. The variation in musical taste is remarkable and studio officials are expecting to achieve through this program a better understanding of what type of music has the greatest appeal.

During the program brief announcements will be made in connection with a coming event that will be of interest to every woman in Orange county. These announcements will not be so long that they will detract from the enjoyment of the program but they will carry a message that every woman has been awaiting.

KAA'S HAWAIIANS PRESENT PROGRAM

Kaa's Hawaiians will be on the air tonight over radio KREG at 7:30 o'clock. This group of musicians is, without doubt, one of the best musical organizations playing Hawaiian music for broadcast.

The program director believes that this is the best group of Hawaiian musicians on the air and wonders what listeners believe. To ascertain the listeners' reaction the program director is requesting comments on the program. If these comments are favorable the organization will continue to entertain. In addition to playing tonight Kaa's Hawaiians will be on the air again Tuesday at 11 a. m.

Adds a Touch to Cocktail Sauce

It never occurred to me that anyone needed a recipe for making a cocktail sauce until I received a letter asking me for such a recipe with enough tang and pep to it to suit the family's taste.

I have a little wrinkle I use in mixing a cocktail sauce which some of you may not be familiar with, and that is, the addition of a little good mayonnaise to the mixed sauce. It converts the commonplace sauce into that suave product you will find in famous restaurants.

Then, here is another thing I do: On my emergency shelf I keep a bottle or two of prepared crab cocktail with portions for four. I have served six people by adding half a cup of finely shredded celery to the mixture, a little tomato hot sauce, a rash of good steak sauce, a tablespoonful of thick mayonnaise, and enough lemon juice to make it suit the taste.

Do you know that finely shredded green pepper is delicious in an oyster cocktail—that shredded celery chums with crab—and, that finely chopped ripe olives, added to shrimp cocktail, make it the gourmet's dream of delight?

TODAY'S RECIPE

Potato Cheese Puff

3 cups mashed potato
 1-4 cup hot milk
 1 cake pimiento cheese
 2 eggs, separated

Salt and pepper to taste.
 Save this recipe for some evening when you are serving a meatless dinner and plan for it by cooking an extra quantity of potatoes the previous day. Let me suggest for such a dinner new peas and carrots in cream sauce to supply the necessary sauce for the plate, and fresh asparagus dressed with butter and served on thin toast.

Whatever form the pimiento cheese is brought in, see that you have a quarter-pound of it. Add to the hot milk and beat gently until the cheese is smoothly incorporated with the milk. Have the potatoes heating over hot water, beat the milk into them and when very smooth add the egg yolks, one at a time, and beat until well mixed.

Season the mixture and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of eggs, cutting and folding them so that they are well mixed with the potato, yet not beaten to death, and the leavening air all beaten out of them.

Pile the potato into a glass pie plate or shallow glass casserole, leaving the top just as it falls. Bake in a hot oven until the puff

"STRANGERS IN LOVE" STARTS AT WEST COAST

Frederic March scores another decided hit in his new picture, "Strangers in Love," which is now playing at the Fox West Coast theater.

The picture tells the story of two brothers, who were exactly alike in body, but vastly different in disposition. One a schemer and a thief, the other an athlete, soldier of fortune and an all-around good fellow.

The soldier of fortune returns home after years of wandering and sees his brother in an effort to obtain money from him. During the interview he learns that his brother has defrauded him of his share of the family estate. A scene follows and the scheming brother falls dead. His heart fails. The other brother, quick to grasp his opportunity, changes clothes with him and poses as the wealthy brother.

All goes well until he falls in love with Kay Francis, who has been his brother's secretary. Strange things occur which put the police on his trail and just when he is captured for stealing money from the girl's father, he is forced to admit he is not the brother he is believed to be, but the returned soldier.

is firm and brown. Serve as soon as done, for whipped egg mixtures do not stand for a procrastinating family.

If served as part of the dinner suggested, the puff will serve six people. The calorie total is approximately 1900, or a little over 300 calories each. The cheese, eggs and milk take the place of meat, while the potato is the carbohydrate food, supplying part of the energy demanded by the body.

Send the usual stamped, self-addressed envelope for a free copy of CHEESE DISHES all this week.

AT BROADWAY

'AMBASSADOR BILL' AT WALKER STATE

Will Rogers does everything, even twirls his rope in "Ambassador Bill," his newest Fox starring vehicle, which opened yesterday at Walker's State theater. It is simply overflowing with laughs from beginning to end.

Presenting him as the easy-going American ambassador to an intriguing and snobbish court, it offers him a fine opportunity for pungent comment on politics and the times. And Will Rogers is the one man in all the world who can make the most of an opportunity like that.

Other excellent performances are given by Greta Nissen, Marguerite Churchill, Tad Alexander, Gustav von Seyffertitz and Ray Milland. Sam Taylor again shows himself a master director.

GABLE, DAVIES WELL RECEIVED IN PICTURE

"Polly of the Circus," an old favorite which is given new life through the medium of the talking screen, opened a three days run at the Fox Broadway theater Sunday.

The picture is the first in which Clark Gable and Marion Davies have been pitted together, and the combination is not so bad.

It brings out a new type of Clark Gable to the audience, one who goes through the entire film without slapping or knocking around the woman in the play. There is nothing of the hard-boiled Gable of "A Free Soul," for instance. In "Polly of the Circus," which shows Gable as the minister who takes into his home the little circus performer who falls in love with him, he is gentle and kind throughout. There are many who did not believe that Gable could be so versatile.

Miss Davies also gives a good performance. Her style is completely her own as you will recognize more in this picture than ever before.

As a trapeze artist, she plays the part well, while the aerial scene in the circus is outstanding.

OFFER REWARD FOR CACTUS THIEVES

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 7.—Acting to stop the wholesale plundering by commercial agencies of the desert regions of Southern California, the International Desert Conservation League today appealed for the public's aid in halting this greedy devastation of the beautiful arid wastes.

In connection with the campaign the League announced a standing reward of $100 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person taking cactus, or other desert flora, unlawfully, from the great deserts of this state.

San Clemente Council Calls $75,000 Bond Election

TWO PROJECTS BEFORE PEOPLE ON APRIL 11

SAN CLEMENTE, March 7.—Citizens of San Clemente at the city election on April 11 will vote on two bond issues, the first in the municipality's history. One will be for $50,000 to be used for further development of the water system. The other will be for $25,000 for the refunding of the public debt.

Civic leaders state that the $75,000 bond issue will place the city on a strong financial basis, save San Clemente more than $10,000 yearly and in time cause a drastic cut in taxes. Councilmen will speak before various civic, social and fraternal organizations in San Clemente explaining the reason for the issue, what it means in the city's growth and how it will stabilize city costs.

James Bennett, supervisor of public works, says that the city in 1931 spent more than $10,000 in the maintenance of the present water system and that the cost in 1932 will be more. "By spending $50,000 on development of the system," says Bennett, "we will save more than $10,000 yearly. The bond issue will soon pay for itself."

San Clemente upon its organization as a city of the sixth class attempted to enter the business of city government without a reserve fund. The building of a fire station, jail, purchase of fire truck, erection of other buildings, placed the city in debt. The city, now operating on a budget and within the amount of its income, finds its original debt and interest on it, a burden that is working to the detriment of needed civic expansion. It is for this reason the city wishes to refund its debt and thus get on a strong, business financial basis.

The council has voted to purchase $15,000 of the recently voted $30,000 bond issue of the San Clemente school district. The city will deed to the school district the present school grounds and equipment and for this will take in return $15,000 of the bond issue. School board members state that as soon as the remaining $15,000 of bonds are sold additions to the school will be made to take care of the increased enrollment next year.

Win Keel was named inspector of the city and bond election on April 11. Other election officials follow: Judge, Miss Effie Johnston; clerks, E. L. Schneeberger and Mary B. Glenon.

Party Staged By Brea Auxiliary

BREA, March 7.—The fourth of the series of welfare card parties being sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary was given in the Legion hall Friday night, with four tables each of bridge and "500" being engaged.

First prize in bridge went to Mrs. J. W. Griffith, Fullerton, and V. J. Kubin, the consolation falling to Mrs. J. E. Wilson and Eugene Streed. Prizes in similar order in "500" went to Mrs. W. E. Griffith and Joseph Priddy and to Mrs. Edward Hyde and J. P. Green, the latter of Fullerton. C. F. Gordon won the door prize.

Card tables were in charge of Mrs. Floyd Finch. Refreshments were served downstairs following the games with Mrs. George Friend and Mrs. B. M. Messer in charge. The next and the final party of the series will be held on the evening of March 16.

NAME COMMITTEES FOR LA HABRA AID

LA HABRA, March 7.—An all day meeting of the Ladies Aid sections of the M. E. church was held recently in the Social hall, with a pot luck luncheon served at noon. Plans for the $5 banquet to be held March 15 were discussed and Mrs. Ross Hodson was selected as chairman of the affair, with Mrs. Edgar Luehm and Mrs. Chester Schuepbach assistants on the committee.

The nominating committee selected includes Mrs. Robert H. Carey, Mrs. O. C. Harpster and Miss Grace Fleming and they are to report at the June meeting. Each section will serve two days at the soup kitchen during the week of March 21 to 26. The aid voted $50 to be turned over to the church for expenses, from the general aid fund.

In the afternoon Mrs. A. M. Blackmon led the devotional service which was opened by a prayer by Mrs. H. O. Simmons. The lesson was read from Matthew and the eighth chapter of Hebrews. Dr. J. H. Wylie, of Yorba Linda, spoke of his experience, during 14 years in China under the Presbyterian church.

BROWN CANDIDATE FOR SCHOOL POST

BREA, March 7.—At the annual election of Brea-Olinda Union High school trustees March 25 one trustee-at-large is to be elected for a term of three years. A. H. Brown, who has been president of the board since the formation of the high school district, is the retiring trustee and has consented to run for re-election. So far no other candidates are in the field. The Brea polling place will be at the Laurel grammar school and in Olinda the grammar school building will be used. Voting hour in Brea will be from 9 o'clock to 5 o'clock, and in Olinda from noon to 5 p. m.

Officers appointed to conduct the election in Brea are Mrs. Frank Bickel, inspector; Mrs. Eliza Bush and Mrs. Winnifred Gurley, judges. The Olinda officers will be Mrs. J. L. Carnine, inspector; Mrs. Nettie Richards and Mrs. E. E. Courtney, judges.

SCHOOL CANDIDATE
BREA, March 7.—One trustee to serve for a term of three years is to be elected for the Brea grammar schools at the election of March 25. The Laurel grammar school will be the polling place and polls will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Officers of the election are to be Mrs. Velma Bickel, inspector, Mrs. Marie Bush and Mrs. Winnifred Gurley, judges. Robert W. Phelps, now clerk of the board, has announced his candidacy for re-election and at the present time is the only candidate.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED
LA HABRA, March 7.—Mrs. Burt Zumwalt entertained recently in observance of the 19th birthday anniversary of her daughter, Claudine. The dinner was served by candle light and green was the color motif supplemented with spring flowers. Guests were Fred Jordan, Harold Senter, Claudine and Winona Zumwalt, Willie Zumwalt and Mr. and Mrs. Zumwalt.

'LOVE' TOPIC OF FULLERTON PASTOR SUNDAY

FULLERTON, March 7.—"The Love Constant" was the subject of the sermon given Sunday morning by the Rev. B. Dudley Snudden, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church.

"He loved them unto the end," Dr. Snudden quoted as he pointed out the need of a real expression of divine love by more people in America today. He explained the meaning of the word "constant" which he said was invariable, unchangeable. Love is power and power is love, he said. The meaning that God loved them unto the end meant that God loved all the people of the world without question of country, race or climate—and that this love never failed, he declared.

He told a story of a Scottish preacher, eloquent and of a brilliant mind, who was engaged to be married when he discovered that he was losing his sight. He told his fiancée of his trouble and she told him: "I could not be married to a blind man," and the engagement was broken. It was this that was the cause of the preacher writing one of the memorial religious hymns. This story, the Rev. Mr. Snudden said, shows that love sometimes does fail.

The pastor deplored the lack of love for one's fellow man as was evident everywhere. He spoke of the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby and that all prayers of the nation were for its safe delivery back to its parents. Law, he said, was not the Great American forte. Talking recently with a priest, the priest told him "you cannot convict a million dollars in America." He regretted the action which permitted a man to go free by one jury after a previous jury had found the man guilty.

The larger significance of the quotation, "God so loved the world, He gave his only begotten son," implied that God's love was far reaching—that it was constant, that it included every person in the world, he said.

Author Talks To School Students

LA HABRA, March 7.—J. Breckenridge Ellis, noted author and poet, who winters in La Habra, was the speaker at the regular assembly period at the Washington grammar school Friday afternoon. He told the boys and girls incidents of his early life and urged them to make the best of their time.

The songs to be given on the Arbor day program were practiced under the direction of Prof. Frank L. Barrows. Forty-two penmanship certificates were awarded by Miss Ruth Dickey and Joe Severan, principal, presented the attendance banners to Mrs. Lanke and R. O. Wright's rooms for the upper division and to Mrs. Ethel Gard's room for the lower division. He stated that next month two pictures of George Washington would be presented to the winners in addition to the banners.

Safety committee certificates were presented by Miss Katherine Peck, president of the safety committee.

OUTLINE PROGRAM ON TREE PLANTING

LA HABRA, March 7.—The program for the Arbor day tree planting ceremonies was announced today. Following the invocation a reading, "Shade," will be given by Floyd Church; community singing; a talk by Mayor L. E. Proud; reading, "Trees," by Virgil Tinkler, the program closing with "America, the Beautiful."

The program will be held at the Washington school on the lawn in front of the school and following the program the organizations will proceed to their respective locations and plant their trees commemorating the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

FORM SEWING CIRCLE
LA HABRA, March 7.—A new sewing circle was formed at the home of Mrs. Norton R. Skinner recently. The club expects to meet twice a month. The time was spent in sewing and arranging a quilt for Mrs. Skinner. Spring flowers were used in decorating and refreshments carrying out the St. Patrick motif were used.

Present were Mrs. Pauline Bauminger, Mrs. Fern Shores, both of Whittier, and Mrs. Don Simmons, Mrs. F. A. Rottig, Mrs. Ward W. Perkins and Miss Margaret Williams.

CONSUL TALKS IN FULLERTON TUESDAY NIGHT

FULLERTON, March 7.—Rafael De La Colina, Mexican consul in Los Angeles, and Alphonso Carrillo will be the speakers at the Fullerton International relations council meeting tomorrow night at McFarland's cafe. "Our Relations With the Mexican People in the United States," will be the subject discussed.

Both know the status and the problems of the Mexican people in the United States and in Mexico and they will deal with many of the intimate problems of the Mexican people, it was announced. De La Colina will talk on the subject, "Mexico's Point of View on the Mexican in the United States," while Mr. Carrillo will talk on "Social Problems of the Mexican Immigrant."

Mrs. Julia Alonso, soloist and concert pianist, and recently professor of piano and composition of the National Conservatory of Music in Mexico, will sing.

W. T. Joyce, president of the local council, will be in charge.

BREA GROCER SEEKS COUNCIL POSITION

BREA, March 7.—Although two councilmen must be elected at the forthcoming election of city officials in April, only one man has so far announced his candidacy. He is L. A. Hogue, proprietor of Hogue's Certified grocery, 122 North Pomona avenue.

Mayor Ted Craig and J. D. Wakeman are the sitting councilmen. Craig has definitely stated that he will not be a candidate for re-election. Wakeman prefers to retire from the council but is being urged by his friends to announce his candidacy for another term and he may consent to do so.

DEDICATE NEW AUDITORIUM AT LONG BEACH

LONG BEACH, March 7.—Long Beach today began a week's celebration to mark the dedication of a new civic auditorium, erected at a cost of $1,000,000. Starting with flag raising exercises this noon, the actual dedication of the imposing new convention edifice will take place tonight with Lieutenant Governor Frank E. Merriam presiding. The principal address, preceding this, 1500 performers will present an all-star concert dedicating the new edifice to the city of Long Beach. The founding of Long Beach and its growth to the present day will be dramatized as a concluding number.

The big social event of the week is scheduled for Thursday night—the Chamber of Commerce Civic Ball—at which many notables of state, county and municipal administration, as well as celebrities of stage and screen, will be present. Governor James R. Rolph will lead the grand march.

Fraternities of Long Beach will join in exhibition drills on Saturday and a great street parade with thousands in the line of march will climax that day's program.

The week's exercises will conclude on Sunday with religious services in which all creeds will participate.

The auditorium which will be dedicated by the week's ceremony is considered one of the finest structures of its kind in the west. Built as the answer to the growth of the city, the new building where large conventions and entertainments might be held with modern conveniences, it fills a goal sought for more than a dozen years.

"Launch Out Into the Deep"

(Read Luke 5:1-11.)

The hopeful person is an adventurer. He does the thing that others are afraid to do. He launches out into the deep. Those who think of religion as being merely a refuge, have stopped short upon the threshold of discovery. They refuse to see religion clear through. Religion, to be sure, is an escape from the perils of life, but this is only half of it—the absorptive half. The other half of religion is radiantly active. It is the application of faith and hope to the concrete problems of existence, through which we become adventurers and explorers with God.

Prayer: Grant, O Christ, we pray Thee, that our desire shall be fixed upon the expanse of opportunity beyond the protected shores of life. May we never be content to stay within the bounds of timid prudence. Launch us out into the deep. Then, when Thou hast taken us far from the safe land upon adventures in Thy vaster realm, bring us back, we pray, with full cargoes to the haven where we may once more be at rest. Amen.

ARISTIDE BRIAND

The death in Paris this afternoon of Aristide Briand, veteran apostle of world peace, while not wholly unexpected comes as a shock to the world. Briand, twelve times premier of France and a member of eighteen cabinets, was so consistently pictured as the faithful wheel horse of the chariot of peace that the world lost sight of the fact that he was one of France's greatest patriots.

Even the people of France thought of Briand as an internationalist first and a Frenchman second. That was tragically illustrated in the Spring of 1931 when the National Assembly withheld from him the highest honor within its gift and elected Paul Doumer president of the Third Republic.

Throughout the three decades of his brilliant career Briand was the leading architect of peace in the Old World. Yet as France's "Permanent Foreign Minister" during the last half of that time he never for one moment forgot his country's vital interests or failed to fight for them. No French nationalist was more unyielding than Briand in maintaining the Quai d'Orsay's thesis that security for France must come before disarmament.

The more conciliatory and more astute—though no less pertinacious—manner in which the "Man of Locarno" defended this prime tenet of French foreign policy marked one essential difference between him and lesser contemporaries: Briand, master parliamentarian of Europe, knew how to say a firm "No" without arousing ire.

The greatest services to his country were performed during and after the war. Every French schoolboy knows the leading part he played in drafting the Locarno pact, his co-authorship of the Kellogg-Briand pact for the outlawry of war and his sponsorship of the dream of uniting the warring nations of Europe into a peaceful federation.

It is Briand's services as a man of war that are forgotten. Before 1914 it was he who saw to it that France was well supplied with field artillery. It was Briand, who, in the face of bitter opposition from "Tiger" Clemenceau and Lord Kitchener, urged the Allies to drive towards Vienna through Salonika, where the first breach was made in the military wall by the Central Powers.

Again, it was Briand, who at the war councils of the Allies, most eloquently urged unity of command.

His political career was given definite direction in 1906 when he was expelled from the Socialist Party for accepting the post of Minister of Education and Worship in the middle-of-the-road Sarrien Cabinet.

Briand formed his first cabinet on July 24, 1909. The last government headed by him fell in 1929, but up to the day of his death the possibility always remained that he would be recalled to the helm of the ship of state.

A resourceful, supple politician as well as a statesman, Briand was almost grotesque in appearance—short of stature and with a huge round head which seemed to weigh too heavily on his hunched shoulders. Immensely bushy eyebrows over cavernous pale blue eyes, shaggy hair and a certain carelessness in dress accentuated his picturesque appearance.

But Briand was also the greatest orator in Europe whose face and figure were forgotten once he began to speak. When he mounted the rostrum in the Chamber of Deputies silence would fall, as if by magic, upon 600 shouting, desk-pounding deputies.

Briand indeed became the prophet of peace, the statesman who answered Clemenceau's "Je fais la guerre" with the clarion cry "I make the peace"—and lived to be honored far beyond the boundaries of France.

THE ORIGIN OF "AMERICA"

Great achievements are often born of impulse rather than by design. This is again illustrated by the story being circulated concerning the origin of the words of our great national hymn "America". The author of that hymn, Samuel Francis Smith, as a young theological student, had been set to work to translate some foreign hymns; and in the course of his search he fell upon the tune of a German hymn which afterwards became the tune for the English hymn, "God Save the King." Smith was so impressed with the tune that he sat down and wrote in less than half an hour the hymn "America" which has made him immortal.

Like so many others who have found fame thrust upon them, Smith never dreamed that he had written a hymn which would be sung by millions through all the succeeding generations. Much more singable than the "Star-Spangled Banner," and much nobler in sentiment, it will continue to be sung through all time with greater frequency and with a more general participation. The story of the origin of the hymn corrects the mistaken impression that the tune for it was copied from the hymn "God Save the King." The tune has a German origin, and "America" was written especially for it rather than copied from the English use.

Germany has perfected a cotton substitute from the Yucca plant. Now who'll be the first to develop a substitute for the Yucca plant?

SOCIETY'S RESPONSIBLE IN THE INCREASE OF CRIME

While the country is aroused over the missing Lindbergh baby some relief was afforded Saturday by the conviction in Los Angeles of three kidnapers who on December 20, 1930, kidnaped Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Caress and their Japanese houseboy and held them for thirty hours until Caress had written ransom checks for $50,000.

Convictions and maximum sentences are society's insurance against kidnappings, as well as other crimes.

Today attention is focused on the terrible kidnapping in New Jersey. A golden haired baby has aroused society to the increased number of successful kidnappings. The realization comes as a shock that each and every individual is to some degree responsible for this crime, unless that individual has in the past been doing his full duty in stamping out law violation. Certainly each person who has deliberately tried to escape from awareness of criminal conditions is responsible.

It is impossible to know the number of kidnapping crimes. There are brief stories in the papers, if any at all, telling of the safe return of some individual who has been missing. The newspapers are unable to get enough definite facts about the case to justify a story. And therefore the public is unaware of the growth of this kind of crime. The victims are afraid to talk. They are thankful to be back alive, and in many cases probably their morale is so shattered by their adventure that they cower and carry out the injunction to silence imposed by their abductors. As a result this particular type of crime is increasing. This class of criminal has society badly frightened. Such a conviction as the one in Los Angeles is the thing that is needed. May there be more. And to that end victims must be courageous enough to co-operate with the authorities. It is a brave thing to defy a band of desperate men. Certainly in the Lindbergh case none would blame parents for disregarding every other consideration than the return of their child. But the burden is on society to become aroused and assume responsibility, each and every one for stamping out this fearful crime. Society is to a large degree responsible for the kidnapping of Charles Lindbergh jr. It is an awful thought. One which should inspire the individual to vow never to be indifferent to the duties of citizenship.

Waddling Through
Christian Science Monitor

The duck is in big business. Even the chicken and the turkey cannot duck the fact that the one-time "poor relation" of the hen yard has attained prominence in the field of high finance. This, at least, is the logical deduction from news of the organization of all the various duck-raising associations on Long Island into one great cooperative group with assets of more than $5,000,000 and an annual output of from $4,000,000 to $6,000,000.

And thus the duck gets into the swim. Waddling around the poultry yard, oftentimes mothering three or four straggling chickens instead of children of its own, the stray duck on the ordinary American farm has a "hard time" getting ahead. The hen had the field and kept it for generations. But the time came when the duck discovered the sandwich, spread its wings, emitted a series of especially forceful quacks and demanded recognition. The result has been a steady growth in duck farming in the last decade or two.

The Long Island duck is said to trace its ancestry back to Chinese forefathers. It was nearly a half-century ago that three or four ducks and doves emigrated from China and took up their residence on Long Island. They had to scratch for a living. Oftentimes they had to accept cheerfully what was left after the hens had been fed. But they were persistent and were the progenitors of the hardy millions which today infest the island. And now they have been gathered into one great organization that even the hene of the country cannot ignore.

Root Up Prejudice on Race Lines
Pasadena Star-News

National and racial prejudice is the offspring of ignorance and lack of understanding. In the face of intelligence and understanding, prejudice vanishes like fog before the summer sun. Nations and races understand each other better today than ever before in the history of the world. For they know more about each other. They better understand each other's viewpoints. They better appreciate each other's virtues and excellences.

The newspaper brings a congress of nations into the home or the office. Each evening and each morning the nations and peoples of the world pass in review before the newspaper reader. The intelligent man and woman comprehend nations and peoples better than ever before.

The motion picture; the radio; the airplane; the fast steamship; the great increase in volume of international travel—all these things are factors contributing toward better understanding among nations and peoples—and this better understanding dispels much of prejudice among nations and peoples—prejudice which, in past generations, has led to useless wars and equally useless and inexcusable hatreds and suspicions.

An intelligent world—such as the world of the near future is destined to be—will drive out prejudice as a daughter of Satan, a recruiting agent for Mars, the god of war. When Prejudice is banished, War soon will follow in its footsteps.

HOPE DEFERRED

It has been found that Japanese beetles can be destroyed by allowing them to feed upon castor-oil beans. The grass-cropping Japanese beetles That lately infested my lawn— A ravenous race that denuded the place Of all of its verdure—are gone. I vainly had sought to destroy them Till nature provided the means, For the creatures dropped dead just as soon they fed On a diet of castor-oil beans. And I hope when the Springtime is with us once more To make two blades of grass grow where none grew before.

But the slugs are still greedily waiting For the beans and the cabbage to sprout, And the cut-worms repose in a soft dreamy daze Till the early potatoes come out. While the aphids, unseen but still trustful, Are watching their earliest chance. Some warm April morn to be borne to the corn By their friends and protectors, the ants. The sword may be verdant and lush, but alas, Only Nebuchadnezzar could thrive upon grass.

All the pests that lay waste to our tillage Have savage pursuers no doubt, Which, if brought to our aid could be easily made To stamp all the wretched things out. But who has a taste for the weevil, And who is the corn borer's foe, And what kind of vile slays mosquitoes on sight Is something we simply don't know. So our gardens with bugs will be daily beset Perhaps for a couple of centuries yet.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

HAPPINESS

What you accomplish in this world will depend a great deal upon what your idea of happiness is. If your chief end in life is constantly to be entertained, you will not amount to much.

Entertainment is mental relaxation, and the relaxed mind doesn't produce anything.

If you want the kind of happiness that, in your belief, will be supplied by wealth and power, you will never attain it.

Most of the men of my acquaintance who are constantly struggling for wealth are still far from gaining it.

Those who have gained it worry much lest they lose it. As for those who spend their lives seeking power, such of them as have succeeded live in constant fear lest somebody take it away from them.

In this class are the politicians who, as a class, are the most suspicious, the most jealous, and the most worried men possible to imagine.

If you have a special talent for some particular activity, and are not lazy, you will probably be happy.

For to enjoy one's work is happiness in itself. There is nothing which brings greater happiness.

But how is it to be done? There must be the right beginning. Most people with any intelligence at all have a preference for some particular activity.

If you have such a preference, take up that kind of work. It does not matter very much whether it will bring in as much money as you might have made in some other way.

What does matter is that you will always be interested, more interested in what you are doing than you possibly could be in anything else, and never forced to drive yourself to your job.

I have always disliked hospitals, for I have been ill in them myself, and have visited others who were suffering there.

But I once heard a doctor say that every time he had a vacation he spent it in a hospital, and I saw right away that he was a happy man, for one who likes any calling so much that he will gladly spend his unoccupied hours studying its development cannot be otherwise than happy.

To the young the choice of a profession is always a matter of doubt. Too often they are over-persuaded by parents who are eager for them to take up something that will pay.

But nothing can really pay, which means a dull life, most of it spent in futile rebellion against the kind of work one is doing.

Pick the job you like best, if you want to be happy. That is the surest way to attain that blessed state of mind. Moreover, you are far more likely to succeed in the end than you would be in any other calling.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

WE MUST REMAKE AMERICA

"The human mind has always accomplished progress," H. G. Wells once said. "by its construction of Utopias."

This has been true even when the Utopias have gone far beyond the range of practical possibility, for they have stirred to action statesmen who have been wise enough to trim away from their realistic cores the fantastic and the premature.

It is, I think, an encouraging sign that so many Americans, and not just the theorists and dreamers at that, are now seeking to set down on paper their notion of what we must do with the American future. Hardly a week passes without from one to a dozen letters, pamphlets or books coming to my desk bearing a picture of the writer's notion of a remade America. Some of this writing is crude and impractical, but much of it represents an awakened sense of responsibility on the part of business men, bankers, industrialists, and educators for the conscious determination of improved policies for the social and economic order.

These writings, let me make clear, are not from the professional publicists of the country. I do not refer to the Charles A. Beards, the Stuart Chases, the George Soules, the J. Russes Smiths, and their school of scholar-publicists who have produced such a lush output of Utopias during the last two years.

I refer rather to the writing of nonwriting men who have not been before guilty of pamphlet-

This is, to me, one of the most hopeful signs of the time. In the happy-go-lucky days of easy profits, the average American, however unceasing he might be about planning the future of his particular business or professional enterprise, did not spend much energy upon the outlook and objective of the social and economic order as a whole.

He seemed to think that a single business demanded ceaseless thought and careful planning, but he seemed to think that the national life as a whole could be conserved and conducted in fits of absence of mind.

All this is changing under the impact of necessity. Men everywhere have seen their separate enterprises go on the rocks, despite the utmost care in their administration, because the broad economic policies of the nation have been maladjusted to the changed circumstances of the time.

It is something new in American history for so many responsible citizens to focus their minds upon the fundamental policies of national life as well as upon the fortunes of their separate businesses.

This week I shall try my hand at pulling together some very specific observations upon the Remade America that I think we must bring into being, if we are not to assume that the periodic rise and fall of prosperity is a natural law like the ebb and flow of the tide.

Little Benny's
Note Book
by Lee
Pape

Pop was smoking and thinking in his private chair and ma was looking around the room with a serious expression, saying, Willyum, the more I reflect, the more I'm convinced that the bookcase would look better on the other side of the room.

And the more I reflect the more it's borne in upon me that the best place for it is just where it is, pop said. Yee gods you're getting another attack of the furniture moving fever, he said, and ma said, it would give the room a better balance, I'm convinced of that, I've studied it all out carefully in my head and I'm convinced that it would give the room a much better balance.

It's been balancing the room standing on its present site for a good many munts now, and the room hasn't shifted its center of gravity by as much as an inch, what's a matter with that for balance? pop said.

And then besides that it would add a little touch of novelty and relieve the humdrum effect caused by seeing the same things in the same place day in and day out, good weather and bad, add infinitum, ma said, and pop said. Quite the contrary, on the other hand it would detract from that comforting sense of the usual and expected which makes a home homelike and is so strangely absent from storage warehouses.

It's firmly fixed in my mind's eye and I can't wait another minnit, ma said. Willyum, I want you to move that bookcase for me immediately, if you take all the books out first it will be much lighter, she said.

And if I remove all the pages from the books, they'll be lighter too, yee gods, what a life when you're married to a woman with a furniture moving obsession, pop said.

And he started to take all the books out with an unwilling expression and I hurry up started to do my homework for safety first.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files
14 Years Ago Today

MARCH 7, 1918

Santa Ana friends were surprised by the announcement of the marriage on March 5 in San Diego, of Mrs. Etta Epley and Calvin Powers, who were remaining in San Diego for their honeymoon before returning to this city to make their home.

The mission bells at San Juan Capistrano tolled on March 6, for the funeral of one of the last of the old vaqueros, "Chappo" Dolores Yorba, 85 years old, who prior to his death had led a retired life after having served as major domo on the Santa Margarita ranch for Don Juan Forster long before O'Neill ever saw California. Later he was similarly employed by Don Marcos Forster.

Announcement was made of the marriage on March 2, of Miss Mame E. Woodring, a recent arrival from Colorado Springs, to Claude E. Waggoner, the ceremony having been an evening affair at the home of the bride's uncle, J. F. S. Wood.

H. C. Turner resigned as driver of one of the city fire trucks, and R. S. Elliott was elected to succeed him as driver.

Santa Ana home guards under Captain Koepel, went to Fullerton to join the home guards of that city under Captain Hauck, in drill maneuvers on the Fullerton high school grounds, later parading the downtown streets of that city.

SISSY

"Mother, I'm not going to have an 'A' report card this month."

"No? Why not? What's wrong?"

"All the fellows are calling me Sissy. Whenever I answer a question in class they look at each other and snicker. Today Sammy Toodles giggled out loud when I answered in history."

"What was he giggling at?"

"At me. Nobody that the teacher asked knew the answer until she called me. I knew the answer and of course I said it. She said, 'Right. Anytime I want an answer I have to call on Henry. I should think that some of you boys would begin to feel ashamed to let him have all the honors and you all the failures.' That's what made Toodles giggle."

"Well, it wasn't tactful of Miss Grace, but then, she felt you earned praise and she was giving you your due."

"I wish she wouldn't. I have to be called Sissy, and left out of the games, and called teacher's pet and everything. I'd just as soon not be an 'A' pupil."

"Would you? Would you rather be Toodles? As far as I can see he is the foot of everything. He goes to all the games, that's true, but he plays in none of them. He isn't on a single team. He is forever at the foot of his class. He is the leader of the worst group of boys in the neighborhood. You can't mean that you would rather be among them than among the best ones."

"I just hate to be called Sissy."

"They know that. You have showed that you hate it. If you don't mind it they'd soon stop."

"But I do mind it."

"Did you ever hear the story of sour grapes? That's it. These fellows can't do anything to make them stand out so they try to keep you down to their own level. If you are like them then they feel more comfortable. Soon they'll be crowding over you because they are more thorough ne'er do wells than you are. You mean to tell me that Toodles wouldn't take the honor medal if he got it? Mean to tell me that if he could find himself on the platform reading the valedictory that he wouldn't get there? Don't be such a sissy as to believe all he tells you. It is better to hang high than to be eaten by the foxes."

Many a boy has struck on this rock. It is hard to stand the gibes of the crowd but if one is to get his head and shoulders above the ruck the jibes are to be expected. Nobody envies the tailender. Nobody jeers the loser. It is the leader, the flagbearer who is attacked. A wise man said once that he counted that day wasted that brought him no reports of attack, no letter filled with criticism, no hard words.

The day your work is done without effort, without criticism, the day you are everybody's friend, is your day of danger. It is better to be a leader and fight for your ideals than to be a follower stuck in the mud of your own ignorance. Don't be childish.

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

FINLAND MAKES PEACE
On March 7, 1918, Germany and the new government of Finland signed a treaty of peace, and it was reported that the Finn government was considering Prince Oscar of the house of Hohenzollern as king.

The treaty provided for the withdrawal of German troops in Finland.

Two Russian transports were attacked and sunk by German destroyers off the Aland Islands. The Germans claimed the transports had refused to heed their warnings.

The Soviet government protested alleged hostile acts by German troops in Russia.

The western front was unusually quiet as both Allied and German armies prepared for the expected German thrust at Paris and the channel ports.
